1,500 U. S. PLANES HIT WEST GERMANY

NAZI ATTACKS THROWN BACK BY 5TH ARMY

Germans Repulsed at Cassino; Allied Bombers Blast Positions in Italy.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 23—Fifth Army forces doggedly flung back German attacks yesterday on their Cassino positions while allied bombers struck sharply at enemy supply lines in northern Italy, allied headquarters announced today.

In the southern section of the town of Cassino, New Zealanders still were engaging the enemy at close quarters. Allied artillery knocked out a German tank in one wrecked building, raising to five the total destroyed in the week of fighting for possession of the town.

Westward along the lower slopes of Monastery Hill allied forces kept up their attacks along a north-south axis. The Germans counter-attacked against Hill 193, key height just northwest of the town early yesterday, but were thrown back, leaving 30 prisoners in allied hands.

Two Nazi Attacks

The Germans also lunged forward in two strong attacks near Monte Castellone, three miles northwest of Cassino, but French troops repulsed their formations with artillery fire.

Rail lines in northern Italy were hit heavily yesterday and last night.

American Flying Fortresses and Liberators hit Verona and Bologna, on the route south from the Brenner pass, as well as Rimini, important junction point on the Adriatic midway between Venice and Ancona. Padua, west of Venice, was attacked by night-flying RAF Liberators and Wellingtons.

Medium and light bombers hit railway bridges at Foggibonsi and Arezzo, south of Florence, and Popoli, in front of the Eighth army line.

German Planes Active

German planes swept low over the Cassino area, shooting up allied positions.

German artillery tried repeatedly without success to knock out bridges across the Rapido below the town.

Nazi aircraft attacked allied shipping off the Anzio beachhead, but it was announced they caused no damage.

Seven enemy aircraft were destroyed during the day. Four allied planes were reported lost.

Technical Sgt. Irlene Hudson of Mansfield, O., a Liberator gunner, said the raiders over Bologna "hit the main yards in dead center."

U. S. AND FINNISH BREAK SEEN NEAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — A break between the United States and Finland appeared today all but inevitable.

The only thing believed capable of preventing final diplomatic rupture would be some official word that peace negotiations between the Finns and Russia have not collapsed completely.

Hope that such word would be forthcoming was very slight in informed quarters here.

The Finnish government was notified several days ago that the United States was reconsidering its relations with Finland. A break was not openly threatened but was clearly implied since it is about the only diplomatic measure left to Washington.

On excellent authority it can be said the American policy toward Finland is basel on the following principles:

The United States has maintained relations with the Finns despite the fact they are allies

He received his commission and was sworn in yesterday at Columbus.

OPA Drafts Crack-Down Plan To Curb Ohio Gas Black Market

Columbus District Director Announces Drastic Shakeup To Break Illegal Sales in State.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 23—John H. Summers Columbus district director of the office of price administration, today announced a drastic shake-up in rationing procedure to stop "the bootlegging and counterfeiting of gasoline ration coupons."

Announcing the "new and tougher policy," for the central Ohio area Summers said in an address prepared for radio delivery:

"We have evidence that counterfeit coupons now are filtering into this section of Ohio, and we know there has been a little embezzling inside some local boards. Therefore we have planned several methods for stopping the black market supply:

"1. We are changing coupons, with each one numbered serially so that strict accounting can be kept.

"2. All unissued coupons now are kept in bank deposit vaults or other safe places at all times, except such as are necessary for every day's immediate need.

"3. The system for obtaining gasoline for farm machinery and other non-highway purposes has been changed, both as to form of coupon and places where the gasoline can be purchased. From now on there will be no excuse for a filling station accepting an R coupon for gasoline under any circumstances.

"4. We are seriously considering a method of issuing all coupons from a central issuing office in Columbus. * * *

"5. We are setting up special devices and inspection forces to run down not only the counterfeiters, but the bad station attendant as well.

"6. Stricter surveillance of filling stations will be made for the detection of unlawful practices, including the purchase and use of counterfeit coupons

"7. A special unit in our enforcement departmen, * * is functioning. This enforcement department will have charge of an will press for immediate action the three following types of sanctions:

"A—Suspension of gasoline stations from doing business;

"B—Injunction orders by the courts;

"C—Prosecution criminally.

"8. We are warning all filling station owners and attendants that there is no way whereby they can get gasoline except by the surrender of legitimate coupons."

Summers declared "we are gong after the professional criminal with every legal means at our command. We now have the assistance of the United States secret service. * * * we shall have no mercy."

Gasoline users were given three rules to follow:

"1. Do not remove coupons from book. Let the filling station man do it.

"2. Do not accept a loose stamp from anyone. If a real emergency arises your local board is there to help you.

"3. Do not put your filling station man in the position of facing criminal prosecution by asking him to give you gasoline without a coupon."

Within the next few days, Summers announced, a small staff of persons will go on duty to check coupons, look for counterfeits and follow illegal tickets to their sources.

Marion and Nearby Counties Affected by Gasoline Change

Marion, Union, Morrow and Delaware are among the 34 counties affected by the new gasoline rationing procedure announced today.

Other counties in the group are Athens, Belmont, Champaign, Coshocton, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Gallia, Guernsey, Harrison, Hocking, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Knox, Licking, Logan, Madison, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Perry, Pickaway, Ross, Shelby, Vinton and Washington.

BURMA BATTLE GROWS FIERCER

Allied Forces Converge on Jap Units Driving Over Indian Border.

By The Associated Press

Allied troops have converged on Japanese forces which drove across the Indian border from Burma and today's allied communique reported a growing ferocity in clashes all along the Burma front.

The communique did not give details but Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, Indian commander-in-chief, said the border crossing isn't serious—at least not yet.

"No real threat can materialize unless and until the Japanese manage to penetrate to points where they can attack our rail and river communications or our airfields in Assam," he said.

Diversionary Attack

Instead, the Japanese drive, apparently aimed at Imphal, an important supply base 30 miles distant, is an effort "to divert allied forces and relieve strong allied pressure against their lines on the Arakan front."

Headquarters said enemy activity was particularly noticeable on the Arakan front where allied bombers and fighters are support-

Battle-Wise Marines Take Jap Island with Little Difficulty

By The Associated Press

WITH THE MARINES ON EMIRAU ISLAND, March 20—(Delayed)—Battle-wise Marines, cheerfully whistling, "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," landed on sprawling Emirau island at two points this morning and in less than four hours secured new bases only 580 miles from Truk.

It was one of the most perfectly executed amphibious operations ever staged in the South Pacific and resistance was so weak many doubted the Japanese ever fired a shot in the island's defense.

Firing observed as the first landing craft started ashore lasted just two minutes.

The job of transferring this strong force of veteran Marines with their supporting light tanks, heavy weapons, bulldozers and supplies from ships to shore was completed by nightfall. The naval flotilla then retired without so much as sighting an enemy ship or plane.

Possession of Emirau means the final link has been forged in the chain of bases encircling an estimated 90,000 Japanese troops at Rabaul, New Britain, Kavieng, New Ireland, and Bougainville island.

It also means trouble in the immediate future for Truk, Japan's big base in the Caroline islands to the north.

After an undetected night-time approach, the convoy started discharging the small landing boats at dawn while destroyers moved inshore to begin a bombardment if necessary. But the island remained silent.

Shortly after 8 a. m., the commander of the marines under Brig. Gen. Alfred Noble told the waiting troops: "Natives on the beach are in plain sight. 'H' hour will be 8:30."

Armed amphibious tractors jockeyed for position and at the designated moment surged forward with their loads of Marines.

The first wave hit the two beaches simultaneously, one landing at Eulolou harbor at the eastern end of the island, the other between Tasagina and Eleos villages about a mile west.

At 8:45, the rattle of machine-gun fire was heard from Elomusao island which forms the eastern shore of Eulolou harbor.

It first appeared the Marine patrol which landed on Elomusao had flushed up some resistance. A destroyer sent a few salvos ashore. That was all.

These Marines are veterans of the first Makin island raid, of Guadalcanal, New Georgia, Bougainville and other Solomons action. Silver stars, navy crosses or distinguished service medals could be worn by virtually every officer and most of the men.

REDS WITHIN SIGHT OF BASE ON BLACK SEA

Battle for Port of Nikolaev Started, German Defenders Appear Doomed.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 23 — Russian troops fought today within sight of the Black sea naval base of Nikolaev and drove into the hills of Bessarabia where the land begins rising gradually to the Carpathian mountains.

The battle for Nikolaev has begun and the Germans appear doomed.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's mobile troops reached points 25 miles from the Prut river, where the Rumanians and Germans launched their invasion of Russia, and 18 miles from the Bessarabian communications center of Byeltsi.

Two Rumanian divisions with German commanders and storm troops offered sharp resistance in the rolling hills, but failed to arrest the tremendous tempo of the Red army.

German planes in great numbers sought to destroy bridges and roads behind the Russians, but bridges over the Dniester and southern Bug river were too numerous and the Red army too strong.

Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's army was driving upon Nikolaev (population 167,000) from captured Bogiavlensk, five miles to the south.

The Germans inside Nikolaev are in great peril and have long been cut off from escape to the Black sea in any large numbers.

With the fall of the fortress town of Pervomaisk, the city of Vosnesensk 40 miles down the southern Bug river, appeared doomed. Capture of Pervomaisk, announced last night, was the first crumbling of the outer defenses to Modessa, seventh largest Russian city and the only one of size still held by the Germans.

Northwest of Odessa, the Soviets pressed down the Odessa-Lwow railroad, already having neutralized the east-west railway through Slobodzeye.

(Berlin has reported the opening of a new Soviet offensive from the Tarnopol-Proskurov sector apparently aimed at trapping Nazi forces in the Vinnitsa area.)

7 TOWNSHIPS PASS RED CROSS GOALS

Drive Report Meeting Scheduled Tonight.

Seven Marion county townships have topped their original goal in the Red Cross camp War Fund campaign now going into the final week.

Townships that have gone over are listed below with their original quotas and the amounts now subscribed: Scott, $300, $303.50; Agosta, $100, $111.25; Grand $210, $331.25; Grand Prairie, $360, $458.50; Green Camp township (not including the village), $450, $460.75; Montgomery, $540, $558.45; LaRue, $900, $900.

Some partial reports from rural communities have been phoned in but a complete account of the workers will be given at a meeting tonight at 8 in the East Center street headquarters.

Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the chapter, reported that since manufacturers have posted a notice on the shop bulletin boards explaining to workers that no solicitation will be made through the companies this year, an average of 25 checks per day have been received at the office and headquarters. Many workers who misunderstood the method of contributing responded to the employers' request to give from their homes.

Hitler Tightens Grip on All Balkans; Puppet in Hungary

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 23—Adolf Hitler was reported tightening his grip on every nation of southeastern Europe today after installing a puppet regime in Hungary, a step Berlin propagandists sought to justify as counteracting allied "intrigues" and "the Bolshevist menace."

In the first official announcement since German armed forces crossed Hungarys borders early Monday, the Berlin radio said yesterday a new government had been formed in Budapest under a Quisling premier and a German gauleiter.

The fate of Hungary was an example for countries failing to fall in line as Hitler strove to build an eastern wall of defense against the fast-moving Russians.

Dispatches from neutral capitals referred to Bulgaria and Rumania as possibly next on Hitler's list for full military occupation and added another—Slovakia, created from the carved-up state of Czechoslovakia.

Seize Bulgarian Railways

A Daily Mail dispatch from Madrid said German airborne troops were seizing Bulgaria's railways and communications systems and had detained the Soviet ambassador and occupied the embassy in Sofia. Bulgaria and Russia have remained at peace although on opposite sides in the world conflict.

Most informed quarters in London viewed Rumania as too weak to be other than docile, particularly since the advancing Russians are knocking against her Prut river border. London dispatches from Ankara said Hitler had promised Premier Ion Antonescu immediate return of Transylvania from Hungary as one inducement for full collaboration.

A Vichy broadcast said Antonescu had gone to Hitler's headquarters for "important discussions."

Aim to Block Soviets

A DNB broadcast said the steps taken in Hungary "are exclusively meant to help the concentrating of all forces and means available in Europe on the task of meeting the common danger and of preventing the possibility of Soviet infiltration."

The German-controlled Budapest radio told the Hungarian people Regent Nicholas Horthy, reported a prisoner when the Germans moved into his homeland, had sworn in the new pro-Nazi cabinet late yesterday.

Doeme Sztojay, former Hungarian army officer and minister to Berlin, was named premier in the new puppet government. Hitler appointed Dr. Edmund Veesenmayer as "minister and trustee of the greater German reich in Hungary."

From Stockholm came the first outspoken opposition to Sztojay as Antal Ullein Reviczky, Hungarian minister to Sweden, refused to acknowledge the new regime.

Marion Soldier Gets Silver Star Award

Staff Sgt. Harry Beam, son of Mrs. Edward Landon of 207 Fies avenue, has been awarded the silver star for gallantry in action. Mrs. Landon received word of her son's award, from the War Department Monday.

The citation, given by Lt. General M. F. Harmon, commanding general of the U. S. Army armed forces in the South Pacific, reads as follows: "Harry Beam, Staff Sgt., U. S. Infantry, U. S. Army, for gallantry in action at Vella La Vella, Solomon Islands, wherein he aggressively killed three Japanese with quick and accurate fire, held his squad as a covering force for a platoon's withdrawal, and then personally covered the safe withdrawal of his squad members on Jan. 10, 1943."

Staff Sgt. Beam is a native of Meigs county, and has been in the army for about 20 years. Most of his service has been in the Pacific area, particularly in the Hawaiian Islands. He was wounded in action in the Pacific and North Africa about a year ago.

BATTLE CASUALTIES NOW REACH 168,292

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — Battle casualties of American Army and Navy forces since the start of the war stand at 168,292.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that Army casualties—dead, wounded, missing and prisoners—amounted to 126,193 up to March 7. The Navy's casualties—Navy, Marines and Coast Guard—are 42,099.

Since American forces landed in Italy last Sept. 9, Stimson said, the casualties total 39,038. This was an increase of 2,287 since Stimson said March 2 that American casualties were 36,771, noting that those figures necessarily were two or three weeks behind.

The 2,287 increase covers a period in which much of the heavy fighting on the Cassino front was carried on by British rather than American forces. Between the two reports, the number of killed increased 688. War department statistics on casualties for the Italian theater did not include prisoners of war, those apparently being contained in the category of "missing."

The missing total given today by Stimson was 10,275, an increase of 252 over the previous figure.

The casualties in Italy were as follows: killed 5,749; wounded 23,035; missing 10,274.

The 126,193 Army casualties since the start of the war were divided as follows: killed 21,737; wounded 50,383; missing 26,747; prisoners 27,346.

Of the wounded, Stimson said, 26,459 have returned to duty. Of the prisoners, 1,674 have been reported by the enemy to have died of disease in prison camps. Stimson said most of these deaths occurred in Japanese-occupied territory and that the total undoubtedly was larger than the figures reported.

The Navy's casualties are as follows: killed 17,887; wounded 10,754; missing 9,036; prisoners of war 4,422.

The total naval casualties of 42,099 are divided as follows: Navy 27,790; Marines 13,854; Coast Guard 455.

Vesuvius Still Spews Storm of Cinders

By The Associated Press

POMPEI, March 23—Mount Vesuvius continued to spew volcanic ash and cinders over the surrounding area today, and although the rain of ashes was less intense in Pompei further reports indicated crop damage was greater than at first surmised.

The eruption's climax was expected today by authorities who pointed out that Vesuvius' rampages usually last five or six days. The present eruption started Saturday.

FOLLOW RAF NIGHT ATTACK ON FRANKFURT

Brunswick District Blasted by Americans Today After Raid on Berlin.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 23—Striking the second day in a row in the wake of a 1,000-plane RAF night raid aimed chiefly at Frankfurt, approximately 1,500 American bombers and fighters bombarded the German air force on its home bases in western Germany today.

The American raiding force, which included upwards of 500 Fortresses and Liberators, bombed the Brunswick district, the aircraft park at Werl, 40 miles east of Essen, Achmer air force station in Oldeburg to the south and the German bomber base at Handorf, a U. S. Army air force announcement said.

The German air force, which avoided battle when 600 or more Fortresses and Liberators blasted Berlin in daylight yesterday, apparently rose to the bait of the bold attack today for the German radio said "violent" air combats were fought with the extraordinary large number of fighters which accompanied the bombers.

Fighter Escort Strong

The U. S. headquarters announcement said the Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Lightnings doing escort duty were in "very great strength."

Fires still burned in Berlin from yesterday's attack, and Stockholm dispatches said telephone communication with the Nazi capital was still cut 24 hours after the attack.

While the heavies were ranging over Germany, American medium Marauders bombed the Crell rail center in France the third time in a week, and two airfields.

In opposing the Fortresses and Liberators the German fighters adopted a new tactic, returning Mustang pilots reported, and concentrated their passes on a small part of the attacking formations.

As a result, other Mustang pilots said, "we went almost to Russia without being able to find anyone to fight."

Other tactics of the Germans included adoption of the tight Fortress-like formation, but that did not prevent their suffering heavy casualties.

Nazis Give First Report

First reports of the daylight aerial invasion came from the Germans who said in their broadcasts that bombers, presumably American Fortresses and Liberators, were following up their big attack on Berlin yesterday with blows at the western, central and northwestern reich.

Berlin, attacked yesterday by 600 or more Flying Fortresses and Liberators and at least an equal number of fighters and with a bomb load of about 1,500 tons, was harassed again last night by Mosquitos which also hit other objectives in western Germany.

Although, the RAF announced, 33 aircraft were missing in the night operations.

Probably well over 3,000 tons of bombs fell on Frankfurt.

The RAF hit Frankfurt unusually early, around 10:45 p. m. and unloaded showers of blockbusters for about half an hour.

48th Raid on Frankfurt

The RAF foray last night was the 48th attack of the war on Frankfurt, important chemical and engineering center.

A U. S. communique announced loss of 13 bombers and nine fighters on yesterday's Berlin foray, carried out by possibly 600 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and at least an equal number of fighters. The U. S. bombers

Post-War Ohio Employment May Top Pre-Pearl Harbor Rate

New Fields for Many Articles and Rush of Orders for Replacement Goods Expected To Keep Plants Busy.

(Second of a Series)

By The Associated Press

One striking thought showing in the minds of Ohio industrialists summed on their post-war plans is the idea that after the reconversion period — estimated to range from a few days to a year— employment should be higher than before Pearl Harbor.

A few even indicate they may be able to increase present war-time employe lists if new markets develop in pace with their plans. Most expect to split the difference between their pre-war and war-time payrolls, or to hold near present figures.

For instance, the huge National Cash Register Co., a buttress of Dayton's economic life, now is employing about 160 per cent of its pre-war total, and hopes to settle to 120 or 130 per when it can resume making cash registers and other business machinery. Frigidaire of Dayton, reports present employment at 122 per cent of pre-war and hopes to hold that.

In Akron, General Tire & Rubber Co., whose reconversion problem will be mainly changing the shipping tags on tires and stopping production of barrage balloons, rubber life rafts, etc., has a present employment of 150 per cent, and tomorrow's is expected to be around 125.

What Others Think

The International Harvester plant at Springfield looks for 108 per cent after the war; Electric Auto-Lite of Toledo for continuation of its present 125 if the automobile business comes up to expectations; Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing at Mansfield for continuation of its present 110 per cent; Ohio Brass Co. of Mansfield for continuation of its 120 to 130 per cent if its usual customers present their usual demands; and White Motor Co. of Cleveland, continuation of 150 per cent.

Toledo's Spicer Manufacturing Corp., maker of automobile and truck parts and other war goods, has expanded 400 per cent for war production, and officials indicate they will try to make new products to keep the present 10,000 workers employed.

Among companies expecting to need more workers is the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Co. of Toledo, now with a 200 per cent employe list. This firm sees brand-new uses for its spun glass products, especially in the home building field.

Taylorcraft Aviation Corp. of Alliance, now turning out trainers and liaison planes, also expects its 100 per cent force to grow to satisfy its share of an unexpected demand for 20,000 to 25,000 light planes in the first post-war year.

However, Waco Aircraft Co. of Troy, with a working force of 500 to 500 per cent making gliders instead of fast private planes, declines to share such definite optimism, commenting only that its officials don't know the answers yet because they are so busy with war work.

Expects Replacement Orders

Smaller companies surveyed are uncertain. Mersman Bros. Corp. of Celina, pre-war furniture maker and war-time producer of wood and plywood products, already is down to 70 per cent of pre-war employment, and expects considerable demand for replacement of worn-out furniture to keep the present force busy.

Troy Sunshade Co., now at 100 per cent of pre-war employment, expects a 50 per cent reduction during a four-month reconversion period. It expects heavy demand for its porch furniture, lawnmower parts, and bicycle tubing, but is not certain about others of its many products.

Although the general picture seems to be one of heavy employment, the industries are still faced with a problem of fitting returning service men into their lists. General Tire, in its reduction from 150 to 125 per cent, expects that women mainly will be laid off, and Ohio Brass also expects to replace women.

How general a policy this can be made remains to be seen and a good many industrialists expect plenty of hair pulling, when the time comes for women to decide whether their place is in the home or in the factories.

A developing problem here is this: How many of today's soldiers and sailors want to return to their old jobs? Or will be able to?

Recently an immigration bureau official said post-war immigration problems could not be gauged until something was known of post-war emigration—service men deciding to stay where they found themselves when the war ended, like Africa, South America, and Asia.

Employes are required by federal law to offer men their former jobs but that is considerable indication many returning soldiers and sailors actually will be unwilling—and others indeed unfit—to go back to the monotony of a day-to-day job.

Ball Players' Angle

Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, had a similar idea when he said he would "want to see every returning ball player's medical record as well as his discharge." If a man was so mentally constituted as to make play-every-day desirable, then his place might be in a minor league, rather than in the majors, where periodic bench-warming is the rule, he declared.

Dr. Charles A. Neal, former Ohio director of health and now superintendent of the Hamilton county home, reported this as "another possible straw in the wind:"

"Everyone of a half dozen men and one woman who left our employ to enter service, has withdrawn his or her four per cent retirement fund and severed every connection with the state."

He quoted them as having said "we don't want to go back to state employment when we return."

Dr. Neal and others in the health field appeared agreed, too, on the likelihood that the broadening experience and educational opportunities of military life will make many returning service men dissatisfied with their former existence.

An undetermined number of men whose educational careers were interrupted by the war are expected to return to college, and others who never went to college are expected to learn from war the value of technical and cultural knowledge available best through formal education.

Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, predicted that returned veterans "will invariably form the preponderant enrollment in the professional colleges of law and medicine and in the graduate schools of arts and sciences," while every under-graduate institution "will similarly have a considerable proportion of veterans."

How these factors will affect the general manpower and employment situation can not be guessed now, but every industrialist has to consider them in his plans.

Still, the U. S. bureau of labor statistics estimates Ohio employers will have to find places for 40 per cent more men and women than worked in the state before the war. The bureau predicts nearly a million ex-service man and former war workers will return to the state after demobilization.

Whether the state's industries and businesses can take them in is the question of the day.

Some of the natives on Ponape have etiquette in warfare, and give notice of the day and the place of battle to the tribe to be attacked.

Japan Loses Where It Hurts

AS the United States is able to testify, having experienced the full force of German submarine warfare, the most telling damage to Japan's war effort is being done by American submarines in the Pacific.

Latest bag is 27 Japanese ships, 22 claimed by submarines, bringing the total since Pearl Harbor to 642 sunk, probably sunk, or damaged by underseas warfare. This may be compared with a total of 270 United States vessels sunk during 1942 and the first 11 months of 1943 by submarines in the western Atlantic. It means that Japan has lost outright since the beginning of its war with the United States enough essential ships to upset its naval ratio with this country and Great Britain. While no one knows for certain what Japan's replacement rate is, common sense makes it plain that a nation with Japan's relatively limited resources cannot approach the replacement rate of the United States—which has had considerably fewer losses to replace.

In the people's great anxiety to understand the war, to follow its course and to grasp the potentialities of weapons, they yet have not been able to realize the potentialities of naval blockade by submarines. The United States is using submarines for all they are worth against Japan, just as submarines have been used against this country and Great Britain by Germany—and both can testify that no weapon in this war or its predecessor came closer to forcing a showdown. Japan is losing where it hurts, in the long supply lines it must maintain to bring the potentialities of its vast empire into wartime and peacetime being.

Paul Mallon Started Something

ONE of the byproducts of the war is certain to be a wave of soul-searching in education. Millions of young men and women have been called upon to make rapid adjustment to emergencies. New teaching methods have been tried, for the purpose of obtaining results more quickly than usual. The educational system is being tested in the crucible of military emergency. The usual wartime problem of juvenile delinquency has reappeared.

Into this unsettled situation, Columnist Paul Mallon, with a vast reading audience at his command, has injected an indictment of "progressive" education, naming it as the culprit for everything that has been found wrong with education in general. Mr. Mallon has started something, though it is not easy to be sure what it is.

His indictment of "progressive" education, by which he means the doctrine of abandoning conventional native practices in favor of methods directed toward voluntary individual development, seems suspiciously broad. It may be questioned whether it has had the influence he attributes to it in the breakdown of discipline and neglect of basic requirements. In other words, the things he decries may not be the result of educational methods, as such, but rather the result of an attitude toward education in general.

There is, moreover, an assumption in Mr. Mallon's argument that because certain things are wrong, therefore education must have broken down. We suspect it would be just as logical to argue that because certain things are right, therefore education hasn't broken down. If today's products of education, either conventional or "progressive," are not everything that could be desired, who will rise to say that yesterday's conventional products were generally superior? Down through the ages, men have been looking at boys and girls and finding them a little less well-equipped to bear the consequences of the declining generation's mistakes than could be wished—but somehow the boys and girls seem to get better year by year in spite of it. Of course, they also get worse. It all depends on where you stand to look at them.

Back To the Beginning

THE Army and Navy and the postoffice department, not being in the business of taking sides in politics, are not being heard from in the service vote issue, though they are vitally concerned. Their personnel must figure out how to get the ballots to and from the service voters. Neither President Roosevelt, nor congress, nor state officials, nor the candidates concerned can do more than get the process under way.

Virtually everything done up to this time has been wasted effort, as far as the actual mechanics of transmission are concerned. As Gov. Bricker has pointed out in behalf of Ohio, for this state now to legalize what congress has done under a mistaken application of its authority would be only to add more confusion. Ohio, therefore, will take whatever steps may be necessary to make certain that proper ballots are distributed to service voters, without regard to what congress has done or to the political confusion created by President Roosevelt's attempt to set himself up before military voters as the ordained protector of a right he neither can bestow or take away.

Meanwhile, the real problem—delivering the ballots—is being worked out, by the men who ultimately will take up where legislators and other public officials leave off. Whatever success attends the polling of the service vote in 1944 will be due largely to their ability and their efforts.

News Behind the News

Threat of U. S. Return to Isolation Seen as Poor Weapon in World Politics.

By PAUL MALLON

WHENEVER my friend Philip disagrees with what one of our Allies is doing, he issues a stern note of warning to desist, or else the senate will not ratify the treaty of peace and our people will return to "isolation."

Though it often seems to me that Philip's objections are well founded, I can not think that this particular threat makes any sense whatsoever. What Philip is trying, in effect, to do is to coerce foreign governments by telling them that we may retire from world politics if they do not yield to his views. He seems to think that our participating in arrangements to maintain the peace is a favor, almost an act of charity, which we may or may not confer on others.

When he is issuing his warnings, he seems to have forgotten that in our own vital interest we must insist on participating in order to see to it that we do not have to fight another war.

Philip, so it seem to me, has gotten the real issue turned completely inside out.

Philip's notion that he can make other governments yield by threatening to withdraw is a hangover from the other war and the long controversy about the League of Nations.

Wooed U. S. After Last War

It was true then that the European victors, Great Britain and France, were unable to enforce the treaty and make the League work without American assistance. They, therefore, wooed American public opinion, hoping, in vain as it happened, that they could persuade Americans to do as a kind of favor what Americans had not realized was in fact their own interest.

But that is where Philip, who was a League enthusiast, acquired the habit of expecting to be wooed by foreign governments. This habit was deepened during the early phase of this war, during what might be called the American lend-lease period.

Philip really believed, though he often said the contrary, that lend-lease was a gigantic American charity to save hard-pressed nations abroad. He thinks of our tanks going to the Russians and he never quite thinks through to the end what it means when the Russians put a Russian man in that tank and send it against our enemy.

So whenever a political difference arises, Philip habitually assumes that we are the givers and the foreign governments are the receivers, that we confer favors and that they obtain the benefits.

As a matter of fact, the threat of our withdrawal is an empty one in this war, and more dangerous to ourselves than to Russia, the nation to which Philip usually addresses it.

Empty Threat

It is empty because every one knows that if Europe believed we intended to withdraw when the fighting is over, all of Europe, including Germany, would turn to Russia, and all of Europe, including Russia, would withdraw from the Pacific war and let us fight that one out all by ourselves.

The Russians know that we are not that stupid, and therefore Philip's threat cannot impress them. Philip's threat is dangerous to ourselves because if our people came to believe it seriously, they would, by withdrawing, fail to safeguard American interests in the world settlement. Philip is threatening to cut off his nose to spite his face.

It is just possible if he keeps on confusing our people, who are only beginning to understand world affairs, that he may just succeed in persuading us to throw away the influence and power which are being earned with so much sweat and blood and tears.

In no other country have ordinary sensible men, like my friend Philip, thought they could exert influence in world affairs by threatening to go home and exert no more influence. Every other country, even the greatest, has carefully cultivated and conserved its influence.

Real Weakness

Philip would advance his ideals, which are the right ideals, if he would devote his attention to making our foreign policy more intelligent in its conception and very much more efficient in its administration. That is where the real trouble is.

That is why our diplomatic influence is deteriorating all over Europe and even in South America. That is why our fine promises, the Atlantic Charter, the United Nations' Declaration, the Moscow Agreement, are showing so many signs of wilting when exposed to the hot realities of the world as it is.

But Philip is one who loves so dearly the enunciations of fine principles that he thinks that they constitute a foreign policy. In fact, he believes that the enunciator of fine principles is, by the fact that they have been uttered and repeated, a great diplomat.

The administration of foreign policy does not interest Philip. At least he never criticizes it. Proposals to reform it, if they impinge upon an enunciator of great principles, arouse his protective impulses, and he acts with all the protective fury of an anxious hen.

Yet nowadays he complains to me that the great principles are not making headway in the world. I like to tell Philip, who by the way, is a character of fiction, that he has had a distinguished part in making us what we are today and that I hope he's satisfied.

Hitler Move in Hungary Not Expected To Trouble Russians Seriously.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WASHINGTON, March 23—Hitler's seizure of Hungary means he will move his armies into the great 500-mile-long natural fortification of the Carpathian mountains. There he can establish an almost impenetrable barrier on his southeastern flank.

But this will not save him, not even for a time. True, he no doubt will keep his advance front line along the Dniester river as long as he can and use the mountain line only as a place for the next retreat.

But the Russians already have broken across the narrower stretches of the stream near the Polish border, and intend to go rolling straight south on that bank to threaten his Dniester line from the rear. A big fight for Odessa, however, probably will come first.

But the Russians will not pound their heads against the Carpathians, even when they have cleared Odessa and the Dniester line. A more inviting route straight into Germany lies through Lwow (pronounced Wolf). A spearhead movement is now driving toward that south Polish center.

Brest-Litovsk Outlook

Even better than this prospect, however, is the Red position approaching Brest-Litovsk. There they can cut the main rail line supporting the German positions far to the northwest in front of Minsk.

The Russian tactical situation, therefore, again is nearly perfect, and the Nazi position is deteriorating faster.

Henry Ford obviously was not speaking of this situation when he predicted the war would be over in 60 days. It may take that long for the above forecast developments to come to realization.

Furthermore, in all the German retreats in southern Russia, the German armies have been preserved. Various segments have been captured, and probably another capture is now imminent at Nikolayev in front of Odessa.

Southern Army Intact

But the southern army itself remains a grimly fighting whole. Of course, it is always possible for it to collapse any day, but the experience of this winter offers no more ground for such expectations now.

Our believable reports on German morale also fail to substantiate Ford's hopeful prediction. While revolutions may be imminent in the Balkans, the German armies are fighting with exceptional vigor, not only in Russia, but in Italy.

Their resistance against us in the ruins of Cassino, for instance, was amazing. Here, in a village hardly a mile square, we poured heavy bombing attacks on a scale far beyond anything ever witnessed in the Mediterranean before. Not a stone was left unturned. Yet days later we had been unable to capture the city.

The explanation for this is that air bombing has its limitations. It does an effective job in long range attacks on Germany and was used effectively against us as an at-

The Problems of Lasting Peace

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

(This is another installment of the newly-revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, The Problems of Lasting Peace, prepared especially for this series by Herbert Hoover, thirty-first President of the United States and Hugh Gibson, former minister to Poland and Ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.)

INSTALLMENT XVI

"International Organization" to Preserve Peace.

IN writing the first edition of this essay we said, "The new peace must provide for some organization, some machinery for international cooperation to preserve the peace....The American people must begin to think in a far larger frame than ever before."

The dim shape of such an international organization has begun to emerge by the Congressional Resolution of November 5, 1943 and the Moscow Declaration of November 1, 1943. The essential paragraphs in the Congressional Resolution were:

"That the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment of maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world.

"That the Senate recognizes the necessity of there being established at the earliest practicable date a general international organization, based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving States, and open to membership by all such States, large and small, for the maintenance of international peace and security."

The essential paragraph in the Moscow Declaration by Britain, the United States, Russia, and China bearing on this question was:

"That they recognize the necessity of establishing at the earliest practicable date a general international organization, based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states, and open to membership by all such states, large and small, for the maintenance of international peace and security."

Both statements envisage an international organization to preserve peace and an "equal membership" by all "peace-loving" states.

The Congressional Resolution further envisages "power to prevent aggression." The Moscow Declaration makes no mention of force powers.

It is wisely recognized that further steps are not yet clear. Our view is that further development of the principles of a world institution beyond those expressed above must await the events of the war and after. They should also be influenced by the experience of the world hitherto.

The League of Nations of 1919 represents the greatest and most comprehensive experiment in all history by its definite organization of nations to bring lasting peace. Like all previous collective actions the League failed to stop world war. But it was by no means wholly a loss, for in this great experiment lies the most fertile fund of experience—trial and error.

THERE were many causes for the League's major failure. Among them were the failure of the provisions in the Treaty of Versailles, aside from the League, to allay the dynamic forces which make for war; the disastrous political climate arising out of the competition of power diplomacy and balance of power; and finally, the revolt against liberalism in Europe.

Despite these handicaps from outside, the League did settle many controversies by pacific means.

One of the weaknesses of the League was that it did not recognize, or was prevented from undertaking, one of the first functions of preserving peace, that is, the need for comprehensive consideration of the political forces in different areas which were developing strains and the formulation of long-view policies and action for their correction. It developed no policy in dealing with the rise of the Axis.

One contributing reason for this failure was that all member nations in the world participated in the solution of all problems and policies—even those essentially regional to Europe, Asia or the Western Hemisphere. Some 20 odd nations, members of the League from outside Europe, took part in strictly European questions. In a discussion on any purely local European problem, the powers concerned often figured inconspicuously in the debates, while page after page was devoted to the remarks of delegates from South and Central America, from Near East and Far East. It is surprising how often gates from other parts of the debates revealed that the delegates of other parts of the world were less concerned with actual settlement of the controversy than with creating a precedent that might be useful for their countries later on.

The inevitable effect of all this was the action of European nations in ignoring the League in many of their settlements and controversies — particularly the principal powers.

An indication of the unwillingness to make use of the League to formulate European peace policies and actions lies in a bare list of incidents outside the League. During eighteen years of active League life, there were nineteen international diplomatic conferences in Europe outside the League, thirty-six military alliances and non-aggression pacts which ignored or only gave lip service to the League, twenty violent actions between nations where the League did not, or was not allowed to, take action.

THESE reasons together with the successes of the Concert of Europe lead the authors of this book to propose that the basis of any world institution to preserve peace must at its base be regional so far as political questions are concerned.

At least as contrasted with Europe, the Western Hemisphere has succeeded, by the development of regional cooperation, in maintaining a large degree of peace for a century and a half. This is well indicated by the fact that over this last century and a half in wars among the twenty-one nations of the Western Hemisphere, not more than 500,000 men have been killed, whereas in twenty-one nations of Europe alone, probably more than 15,000,000 have been killed.

Among the broad arguments that may be advanced to the Western Hemisphere for the adoption of regional organization for the future are:

1. That behind the two oceans the Western Hemisphere can, with moderate modern defense measures, be kept free from Old World encroachment.
2. That power politics and wars on the other continents are unending, and thus the Western Hemisphere would be eternally involved in the inevitable local disputes in Europe and Asia.
3. That it is within neither the knowledge nor the capacity of the people of the Western Hemisphere, so far removed from the actual problems of the other continents and so divergent in their ideals, to engage in local controversies.
4. And that by keeping the lamp of liberty burning brightly in this hemisphere, there is a beacon and a sanctuary to the whole world.

We believe American policy should favor the organization of any institution to preserve peace upon a foundation of regional councils.

Trouble in Miami

All Our Sympathy Herewith Goes to the Congressmen Nabbed Down There in a Bookie Cleanup.

By DAMON RUNYON

I SEE where a congressman got jammed up with the law in Miami, down in Dade county, Fla., because he was in a bookmaking establishment when it was raided by the gendarmes.

He says he had merely dropped in to see some old friends in the interests of his candidacy for reelection, which is to say he was hustling votes, a statement I consider highly plausible. I know of no better place to seek a voter in Dade county than in a bookmaking joint.

You are certainly more likely to find one there in Dade county than at the race track, because the track is patronized mainly by floaters, or transients, a considerable number of whom are undeniably bums. They have no vote in Dade county, but they have many advantages over those who do.

They do not have to pay local taxes like the voters, and they are not bothered by considerations of conscience about wasting gas getting to the race track or being seen there in idleness at a crucial period of the nation's history. Hence they can gamble on the horses to the length of their bankrolls.

But if a voter who does not have the gas or the time to spare getting to the track wishes to make a small wager on a steed he has to resort to a bookmaker and run the risk of being sneezed by the cops, though the bookie may also be a local taxpayer, in a small way.

YOU see, bookmaking is illegal in Dade county as it is in all communities in which horse racing is legalized in the United States, because the operators of the legal gambling at the tracks feel that outside betting deprives them of some of their profits.

The state governments which are partners in the legalized gambling through taxation of the pari-mutuels feel the same way about it, though the money wagered with bookies is pretty likely to remain in the business channels of a community, while in many places the track operators are non-residents and take most of their profits out of the community.

I hold no brief for bookies. The majority are weasels and give you skinflint prices as compared with the track payoffs. But when any bum can gamble on the races if he is able to get to a track, I do not see why a working man or a businessman who cannot spare the time or afford the money involved in a trip to the racing establishment should not have the privilege of making a wager elsewhere if he desires and if the game is legalized in his state.

I am glad the congressman got tangled up in the bookie raid in Miami, not that I take pleasure in such mishaps to anyone but because I think it may win a valuable convert to my campaign for a national lottery. Had my lottery been in operation and the bookie joint an office for the sale of lottery tickets, instead of taking of bets on the horses, he would have found all the voters in town there and could have mingled with them safely.

IF perchance he cared to make a modest investment against the chance of winning a gob, he would have been at liberty to do so without running the risk of incurring the criticism of his constituency, except a few church folks, perhaps, who might have denounced him as a supporter of a strong rival to their own bingo. Yes, I think we may have picked up a vote in congress for my lottery allowing that the guy gets reelected. He is bound to favor a place where he can hustle votes unmolested over a deadfall where he may feel the strong arm of the law on his shoulder any minute.

I do not know how it is down in Dade county nowadays, but raids on bookie joints are seasonal affairs everywhere in this great land. I suppose the theory is they cleanse the civic fabric of wickedness for a spell, though personally I never noticed any particular uplift in public morals in any community after a bookie raid as long as other gambling and drunkenness and graft and vice went on unabated.

Escapism

By Truman Twill

The date is vague, but six years ago, come this kind of weather, the first column in what was to become an apparently endless series of trivia went rushing through the presses and was delivered to a public which has not demanded Truman Twill.

Once each year since then, the event has been mentioned on some suitable occasion, said occasion being a day when no other subject presented itself for comment. As time passed, the accumulation of days, weeks, months and years has become impressive.

This column has demonstrated that it is possible to talk indefinitely about matters of no importance. That was its original theory, that people had so many chances to read about matters of importance they might like to read about assorted matters of no importance for a change.

There have been at least 2,000 of these squibs—all equally unimportant. Counting an average of half an hour apiece for writing them, that is 1,000 hours—125 working days of eight hours each, assuming squibs could be produced on a mass production basis.

Six years ago, in 1938, the world was getting ready for war. Hitler had been kicking around the Jews and murdering his enemies. He and his little chum, Mussolini, were experimenting with their new weapons on the Spaniards. Russia asked for a meeting of nations, excluding Germany, Italy and Japan, to deal with the menace to world peace. Richard Whitney, president of New York Stock Exchange, was convicted of grand larceny. Austria was taken over by Germany.

The United States was holding fleet maneuvers in the Pacific, to test the strength of its defenses based on Pearl Harbor. Mexico had taken over foreign oil properties. All the testimony had been heard in the Moscow treason trials. Here at home, between excitements from abroad, the fight against the depression went on and on. According to AFL, there were more than 8,000,000 persons unemployed.

That was the background for the beginning of these inconsequential essays on putting up screens, deciding what to do with parsley on creamed potatoes, getting a drink of water for the children after they had gone to bed, shaking ketchup out of ketchup bottles and tripping over the throw rugs that women insist on planting at strategic spots in the best regulated households. It was escapism.

Since then, things have gone from bad to worse, or from bad to better, depending on how you feel about it. We haven't the slightest idea what the next year may bring, but there still will be screens to put up, grass to cut down, throw rugs to trip over and this, that and the other to keep all of us from being worn to a nubbin by the erosion of momentous events we don't understand and don't seem to be able to influence one way or the other, though they have to give us credit for trying.

tacking force on the open beachheads. But when aimed against seasoned veterans on defense, men who are willing to fight, it cannot work the same wonders.

Fight In Ruins

A ruined village offers just as many opportunities for defense as one unbombed; in fact, better opportunities for light gun operations, because building destruction clears areas of fire, and the rubble offers as much protection as the standing houses.

Probably every German in that square mile area was killed by our bombing, or shocked into uselessness. Yet the determined Nazis were able to move in reinforcements and heavy machine guns from their adjoining forces.

We could not bypass the place and go on, because the Nazis held the mountains to the west and north, and had good positions in a network of streams (swollen at this time of the year) eastward toward the ocean.

Therefore, we had to break that bottleneck and got cut in doing it, solely because of grim, Nazi fighting determination and defensive ingenuity.

10-Year-Old Pianist To Be Guest Artist in Marion Program Monday

DOLORES HOLTZ

Dolores Marian Holtz, one of the youngest musicians ever to be extended an invitation to appear as soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, will be the guest artist on the Junior Lecture-Recital program Monday evening at the Hotel Harding.

The 10-year-old pianist began her musical career at the age of five and during the last three years has been studying piano at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music under the tutelage of Alma Betscher. At the age of seven she appeared as soloist in the Conservatory band, conductedb y Dr. Frank Simon. Last April, the talented young artist appeared on the State Federation of Music clubs' program at Toledo.

Little Miss Holtz reaches the pedals by half standing, half sitting at the piano. Her hands, although barely able to reach an octave, display an outstanding pianistic style. For her concert here she will play the entire Concerto in D Minor by Mozart, as follows: Allegro, Romance and Rondo. Orchestral accompaniment will be played on the second piano by Alma Betscher.

Also appearing on Monday night's program will be members of the Junior club. They will present the following program: piano duo, "Dance of the Russian Sailors" from the Red Poppy Ballet, Gliere, by Fred Lacey and Allen Cleveland; contralto solos, "'Tis Enough," Edwards, "What Is Hid in the Heart of the Rose," Protheoe and "Don't You Go Frettin'," Gray, by Joan LaRue; soprano solos, "I Love and the World Is Mine," Stross, "God Gave Me You," Kasier, and "The Sun Will Shine Again," Jimeney, Betty Clay; piano solo, "Black Key Etude," Chopin, and "Polonaise" in A, Chopin, Irma Jean Hensel; soprano solos, "I Heard a Blackbird Singing," Arlen, "Who Knows," Stickles, and "Maids of Cadiz," Delibes, by Alice Malo; baritone solo, "One Who Yearned Alone," Tschaikowsky, "The Trumpeter," Dix, and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," O'Hara, by Richard Hardesty. Piano accompaniments will be played by Mrs. Cecil Davis.

The concert will begin at 8:15 p. m. Patron tickets will be accepted for admission and single admission tickets will be sold at the door.

MARRIAGE VOWS TAKEN BY COUPLE AT LA RUE

Mrs. Daisy Stouffer of LaRue is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Jean to Pfc. Richard L. Dennis, son of Mrs. Ross Dennis of LaRue.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Warren H. Bright at the parsonage of the LaRue Methodist church at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the presence of the bride's mother and Mrs. Bright.

The bride wore a dress of powder blue with brown accessories and her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her corsage was of yellow rose buds.

The new Mrs. Dennis was graduated from LaRue High school in 1942 and from the Marion Business College. She is employed at the Fairfield Engineering Co. in Marion.

The bridegroom graduated from LaRue High school in 1941. At present he is stationed with the Army Air Forces at Hobbs, N. M., and will return there on March 28. For the present, Mrs. Dennis will remain in LaRue.

Former Magazine Editor on Music Club's Program

DR. EDWARD ELLSWORTH HIPSHER, for 20 years associate editor of the music magazine "The Etude," was a guest of the Marion Juvenile Lecture-Recital club Monday evening at the home of Nancy Terrall of Cherry street.

Charles Pensinger, president of the group, presided for the meeting, which opened with Dorothy Rhoads leading the members in their pledge to make America truly musical.

Dr. Hipsher began his part of the program by showing how easily a thought can be expressed in music. To do this he composed a song about a grasshopper playing leap frog and sang it to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Dr. Hipsher then composed a march which the children asked him to name, "The Juvenile March." He gave the group music manuscript paper on which the children wrote the march as he composed it. Dr. Hipsher also played some of his own composition and works of well known composers.

Dr. Hipsher, at the request of the children, told a little of his life. He is the only American to have been given the title of doctor of music of the Association of the Royal Academy of Music. This Academy is in London, England. He also is listed in "Who's Who of America," "Who's Who in the Western Hemisphere" and has just been requested to write his own biography for "Who's Who of the World" which is now being compiled in London, England.

Charles Pensinger announced that a contribution had been made to "Fletcher Hospital at Cambridge, O., and also a dime card had been filled for the Senior Lecture-Recital club.

Mrs. Ralph E. Mills, club councilor announced the children would attend the annual program of the Junior Lecture Recital club Monday at 8 p. m. at Hotel Harding. The children will meet in the hotel lobby at 7:30 p. m. and will purchase their tickets at that time from Mrs. Mills.

New members enrolled were Phyllis Jerew, Joan Hough and An DeVilbiss. Guests were Tommie Terrall and Mrs. Leonard Parker. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. F. Terrall.

Next White House Hostess?

This is one of a series of articles on the women who might possibly become the next First Lady.

By Central Press.

Maud Busch Byrnes is the leading lady throughout that dramatic success story, the rise of popular James F. (Jimmy) Byrnes from country lawyer to United States senator, to supreme court justice, and thence to "assistant president." She has made a career of helping her husband and keeping things smooth along the way.

Mrs. Byrnes has no children. She never "went in" for women's clubs in a big way, and the social whirl certainly had little appeal, although she is democratic, with many personal friends. Mrs. Byrnes simply concentrated on homemaking and the various chores expected of an official's wife.

In recent times, James Francis Byrnes has become a familiar figure on the news front, but the nation knows little of his congenial, attractive, wife who still insists on being in the background. Friends assure, however, she is equal to any occasion, even a shift of residence from the Shoreham hotel to 1600 Pennsylvania.

So, come for an imaginary call on Mrs. Byrnes and see for yourself. A medium-sized, silver-haired woman greets you at the door, and invites you to have a seat in the living room. She speaks in soft, clear tones (with a faint southern accent), and her blue eyes reflect her ready smile.

The room is furnished conservatively and in good taste. On the wall hangs a canvas of Byrnes and his mother. You note the resemblance, with both having a strong, purposeful face.

MAUD BUSCH BYRNES

Mrs. Byrnes, herself, shows she can indulge in pleasant small talk, or touch the topics of the day. But, she prefers to leave political or economic arguments to her husband, although in off hours, she encourages him to relax and forget official worries. And her quiet, considerate manner should be the ideal antidote.

Mrs. Byrnes was the former Miss Maud Busch, whose father owned a resort hotel at Aiken, S. C. She was a student at Converse college, Spartanburg. There, she met her future husband, who was then a court reporter, studying law by night. Marriage followed not so long after their first introduction.

This marked the beginning of the career in which Maud Busch Byrnes was to concentrate on Jimmy Byrnes success. Not in an ambitious way, but as a partner sharing her ideals and hopes. She followed through the hardships of political campaigning, and then to the rewards of victory at election.

In Washington, Mrs. Byrnes fitted in the Senate Ladies luncheon club, for wives of lawmakers, and often attended lively senate sessions in her favorite gallery seat. After her husband was appointed to the supreme court, and then the executive office, she continued her senate associations. And, count on this, Mrs. Byrnes' old friends in Washington and South Carolina still have the priority, even if her husband should become the Mr. Big of the White House.

HARLEY R. BUSH OF WOOD STREET DIES

Marion Steam Shovel Worker Stricken; Rites Saturday.

Harley R. Bush, 50, of 675 Wood street, died at 1:45 a. m. today in St. Vincent hospital at Toledo, following a five months' illness of the lymphatic glands. He was born in Marion, Aug. 16, 1893, to Samuel and Ella Garrett Bush, natives of Vinton, O., and had spent his entire life here. His marriage to Ruth M. DeLauder took place July 23, 1913. At the time of his death Mr. Bush was yardmaster at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant.

Surviving are the widow, a daughter, Mrs. Lowell Pollock of 682 Wood street, a grandson, Teddy Lynn Pollock, a brother, George Bush of Oak Grove avenue, and the following sisters: Mrs. Mary Cutchall of Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Cora Morgan of Wenatchee, Wash.; Mrs. Ida Wilt of Leslie, Mich.; Mrs. Minnie Fleming and Mrs. Nora Northup of Sylvania, O.; Mrs. Bessie Swisher of Lee street and Mrs. Stella Justice of West Fairground street.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Oakland Evangelical church, with the pastor, Rev. J. R. Dallas and Rev. Oscar V. Latta of Toledo, a former pastor, officiating. Burial will be made in Forest Glen Memorial Park. Friends may call at the home after 7 o'clock tonight until 11 a. m. Saturday and at the church until the funeral hour.

SEEK STRIKE SETTLEMENT

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., March 23—Mayor Carl F. Klein called a meeting of company and union representatives today in an effort to reach a truce in the week-long strike which has deprived the city of taxicab service. The drivers, members of an AFL union, have defied a war labor board order to return to work, pending arbitration of a pay dispute.

RED BIRDS TO PLAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 23 — The Columbus Red Birds of the American Association will play a seven-game spring training exhibition schedule at Terre Haute, Ind., where they began training Monday. They play their first exhibition game against Indianapolis April 2.

SAYS LOW PAY STILL EXISTS IN INDUSTRY

By The Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 23—Frank J. G. Dorsey, regional director of the wage-hour and public contracts division, U. S. department of labor, declared today war production has not eliminated low wages from American industry.

Dorsey, in a prepared address to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Stone Producers association, asserted the annual report of the division showed that of the 45,000 plants found in violation of the wage and hour law in the year ending June 30, 1943, approximately half the violations were for failure to pay minimum wages of 30 cents an hour, set by the act, or 40 cents an hour where the industry was covered by an administrative wage order.

Dorsey also asserted child labor has been increasing in recent months. From Sept., 1936, to Oct. 1943, he said, assessed liquidated damages for child labor violations under the Walsh-Healey act were about $55,000, while from Nov. 1, 1942, to Feb. 1, this year, they totaled nearly $157,000 or nearly three times as much.

KILLED IN CAVE-IN

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 23—Bruno Wonder, 45, construction worker, was killed yesterday when a 12-foot ditch in which he was working caved in. He was buried under almost a ton of earth.

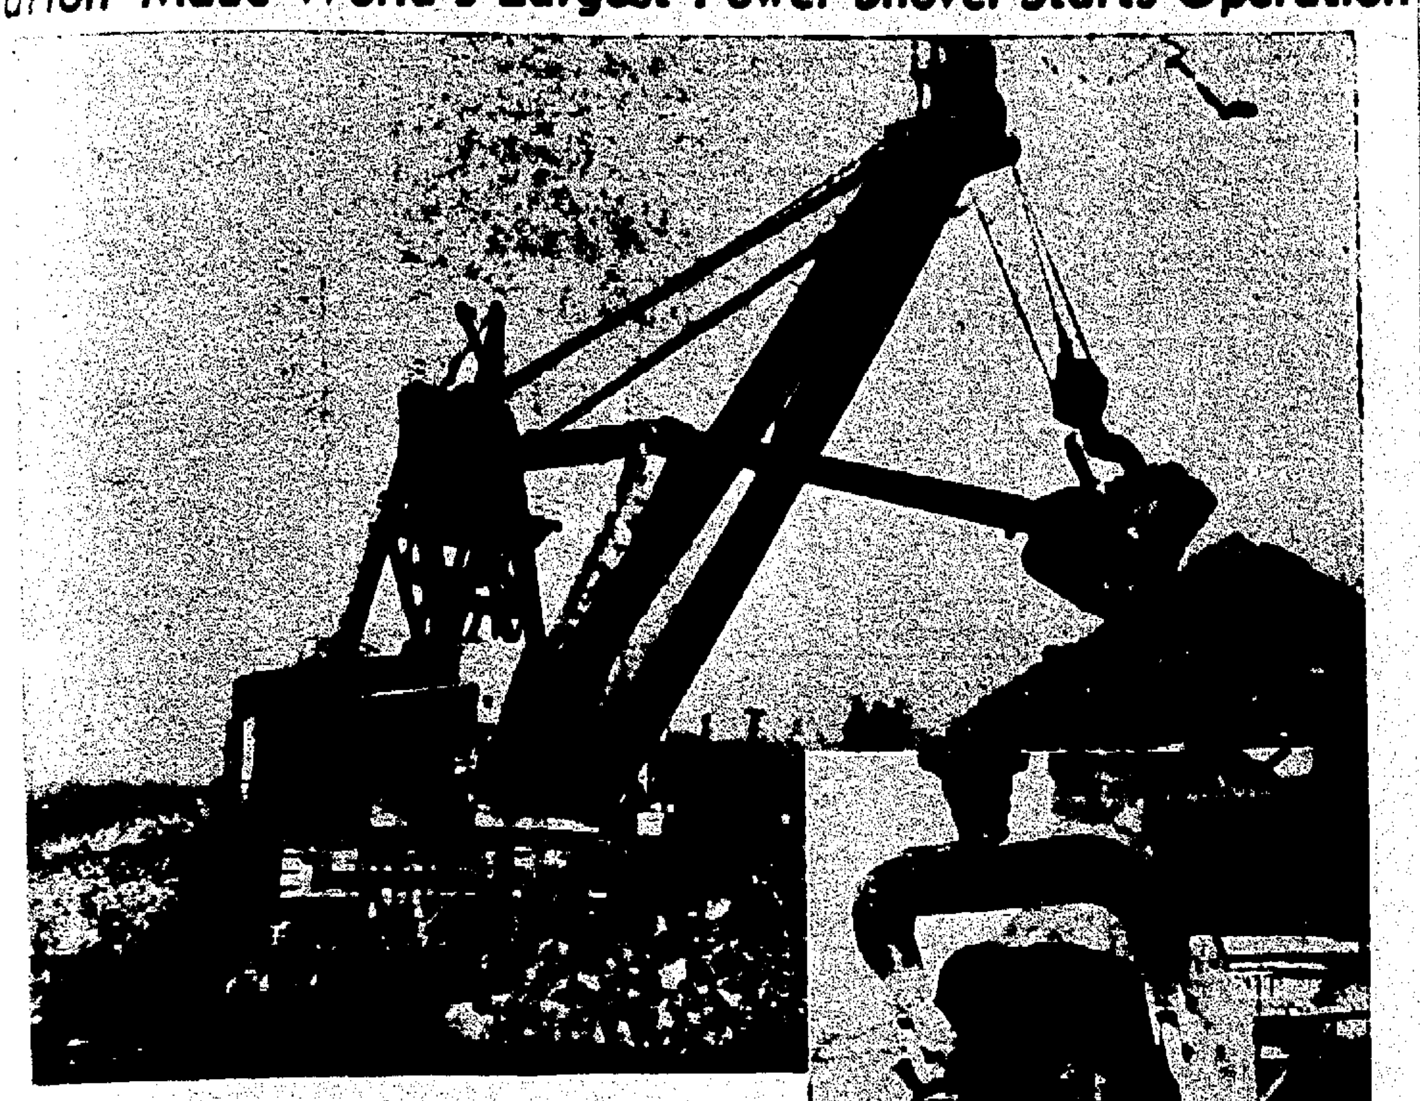
Marion-Made World's Largest Power Shovel Starts Operation



Representatives of Marion Company Attend Inaugural Ceremonies at Ohio Coal Field.

A group of Marion Steam Shovel Co. officials yesterday were at the M. A. Hanna Co. coal stripping fields near Georgetown, O., to take part in ceremonies that marked formal start of operations for a giant 35-cubic-yard shovel built for that company by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. The machine is believed to be the world's largest power shovel.

Marion men attending included Alex Gibson, John Courtright, Ben Jacoby and Adrien Busick.

Some idea of the size of the big machine is furnished by the accompanying photo showing a truck parked inside the big dipper. The automobile parked in front of the photo of the shovel indicates their relative size.

Two dippersful from the shovel will fill a regulation railroad coal car to overflowing. One bite will fill a room 9 by 12 feet, 9 feet high. A 35-cubic yard dipperful is equal to 52½ tons of material.

Has Long Reach.

If the machine were placed in the middle of a regulation city block, it could reach over into the next block and pile dirt on top of a seven-story building 240 feet away. The machine weighs 1,600 tons, requiring 50 railroad cars to ship and the electric power it consumes in operations would serve a community of 3,000 persons with all power needs.

It will operate in fields of coal covered by an overburden of earth ranging from 25 to 75 feet deep, stripping this away to enable workmen to remove the coal.

Several new features were introduced into the big shovel, one of many giant machines the company has made for the same type of work. Particular consideration was given to the front end construction to reduce the weight of the boom by mounting the crowding machinery on the gantry, relieving the boom of stresses and shock imposed by the crowding action. As a result, company officials pointed out, the boom is comparatively light but has ample strength to meet the most severe digging requirements.

The big machine also boasts a "knee-action" front end permitting use of a larger dipper and greater working ranges obtainable in conventional front end design.

Equalizing Equipment.

The machine rests on the face of the coal from which it has removed the overburden, and consequently required some provision to keep the machine level regardless of the contour of the ground. To do this job, the company built hydraulic equalizing and leveling jacks that function automatically with electrical controls to keep the lower frame level while the shovel is traveling and digging.

The big crawlers on which it moves are arranged so that the belts swivel independently, allowing the shovel to conform to the coal surface without imposing undue strain.

Coal stripping with big shovels, company officials said, is responsible for 10 per cent of the nation's coal supply. In 1942, the nation's strip mines produced 63 million tons, in 1943 the total jumped to 80 million tons, and further increases are expected this year.

DELAWARE CO. EMPLOYE AT SCIOTO IS STRICKEN

Frederick A. Weidaw Dies in Columbus; Rites Friday.

DELAWARE, O., March 23—Frederick A. Weidaw, 60, former deputy sheriff of Delaware county, a former employe in the probate judge's office at Delaware and in recent months employed as a guard at the Scioto Ordnance Plant in Marion, died Tuesday in Grant hospital at Columbus. He suffered a sudden stroke Monday while on a visit to Columbus. His home was just north of Delaware.

He is survived by four children, all in the nation's service, and three brothers, including Harry Weidaw of Sycamore. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Morrison Funeral home in Delaware with burial in Oak Grove cemetery.

AVIATION INDUSTRY ASKS DEFERMENTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — Spokesmen for two branches of the aviation industry—transport and engine manufacture—today spoke up for continued draft deferments for young skilled employes, asserting in both cases that more than a fourth of their technical workers were under 27 years of age.

Meanwhile there were these other developments in the turbulent military and civilian manpower situation:

(1) The army announced transfer to ground duty of 36,000 young men who had been earmarked for air training—an effort to make up for a general shortage of ground forces.

(2) A high military official reported draft boards had been failing for 13 months to meet the calls of the armed forces.

(3) Plans were made for congressional inquiry into charges that the draft had been used as a lever to force farmers into government agricultural programs.

Body of S. L. Wottring Returned to Prospect

PROSPECT, March 23 — The body of S. L. Wottring, Prospect inventor, who died Friday at his winter home in Cocoa, Fla., has been brought to the Drake and Gehm Funeral home in Prospect where friends may call. Mr. Wottring's granddaughter, Mrs. William Brown of Columbus, returned from Florida with the body. Tentative plans have been made to hold funeral services Sunday at the Prospect Evangelical and Reformed church of which Mr. Wottring was a member. Final plans await the arrival of Mrs. Wottring and her daughter, who are still in Florida. Friends may call at the funeral home.

OFFICER TESTIFIES AT LONERGAN TRIAL

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 23—The first police officer to arrive at the fashionable apartment of Mrs. Patricia Lonergan after she was slain last Oct. 24, told a jury today the only person he saw there at the time was Capt. Peter Elser, U. S. Marine corps, former Harvard football star.

Testifying at the murder trial of the heiress' 28-year-old husband, Wayne, Patrolman John J. Casey said the Marine officer met him in the basement of the brownstone building and accompanied him up a private stairway to the master bedroom, where Mrs. Lonergan's nude body lay on a blood-soaked bed.

The patrolman said he didn't make any investigation, but merely stood guard until other detectives and a medical examiner arrived.

Police have said Elser and the slain heiress' mother, Mrs. William Burton, discovered the slaying after the Marine officer telephoned the apartment about a dinner engagement. Both were expected to testify later.

Congress Moves To Help Needy in Post-War Period

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — Pledged to rebuild the health and welfare of subjugated nations once they are freed, congress set in motion today the financial machinery for bringing that day closer.

Chairman Bloom (D-NY) said the house foreign affairs committee probably would report favorably before nightfall a bill to continue lend-lease for another year beyond June 30.

America has disbursed $19,000,000,000 in lend lease to the allies.

Yesterday the house adopted and sent to President Roosevelt legislation pledging U. S. participation in the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration. The vote was 285 to 58.

The measure authorizes a $1,350,000,000 contribution to a United Nations "kitty" for the helpless of Europe and Asia. Bloom said an appropriation measure to give UNRRA financial status would be introduced soon.

Churchill To Speak at 4 P. M. Sunday

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 23—Prime Minister Churchill will address the nation Sunday—his first broadcast since his winter illness—amid a rising clamor on both sides of the Atlantic for clarification of allied war aims.

The speech is scheduled for 9 p. m. (4 p. m. EWT).

CHAPLIN IN COURTROOM. Before a middle-aged jury of seven women and five men, Charlie Chaplin, world famous movie comedian of the silent film days, is on trial in Los Angeles accused by the government of violating the "white slave" act. Chaplin "doodled" while his attorneys clashed over the jury which will decide whether he took Joan Barry to New York for immoral purposes. This is a general view of the trial.

ing a ground drive toward the coastal base of Akyab.

Monsoon weather lies scarcely more than a month ahead and the Japanese apparently are intent on capturing Imphal, southern terminus of the all-weather road which joins the Assam supply route to China, before the jungle fighting goes into its monsoon stalemate. Fall of Imphal would jeopardize all allied positions in northern Burma.

In the southwest Pacific, the Bismarck sea, rapidly becoming a graveyard for Japanese shipping, claimed three more enemy ships. Allied headquarters today listed one destroyer and two small cargo ships sunk off the New Guinea coast near Aitape.

Wewak Hit Again

Wewak, main Japanese base on New Guinea was pounded by allied bombers for the ninth time in 10 days, this time with 162 tons of explosives that left huge fires.

Marines who landed in the St. Matthias islands Monday have completed their clean-up of Emirau and Elomusao islands, overcoming light resistance.

Rabaul, New Britain, now completely cut off from its Tokyo supply lines by the St. Matthias operations, rocked under a 133-ton bombing Monday.

Australian ground forces rushed through the New Guinea jungles to a juncture with American forces and sent patrols within seven miles of Bogadjim, defensive outpost for the one-time potent shipping and supply base of Madang.

Argue Collett New Trial Motion Today

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., March 23—Attorneys for James W. Collett, white-haired farmer facing death in the electric chair, today present arguments to support a motion for a new trial.

Court attaches said Common Pleas Judge Harry M. Rankin probably would sentence Collett immediately if he refused to allow a new trial for the hog breeder convicted on three first degree murder counts in the slaying of the wealthy Elmer McCoy family.

A jury failed to recommend mercy in returning the triple guilty verdict March 10, making the death sentence mandatory.

Defense Attorney James N. Linton of Columbus in his motion cited 14 reasons why a new trial should be granted. Most of them dealt with legal technicalities, but in one instance Linton sought to impeach the testimony of a state witness.

dropped an estimated 1,500 tons of explosives.

The German air force offered virtually no opposition although anti-aircraft fire was described as intense.

"Some of our formations bombed assigned targets through breaks in clouds with good effect," the communique said. "Other formations attacked factories and transportation targets in the Berlin area through thick clouds by means of instruments, but could not observe results."

Stewart on Berlin Raid

Commander of one Liberator combat wing was Maj. James Stewart, former film star. It was his 11th mission but his first visit to Berlin.

Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters from both the Eighth and Ninth air forces flew as escorts.

On the homeward journey, the fighters shot up airdromes, railway transport and other targets in Germany and enemy vessels along the coast.

A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Herald said the American bomber fleet had flashed a radio warning while enroute that it was coming to Berlin.

The dispatch said the warning said:

"We are coming. Our targets will be in the northern and northwestern districts of Berlin. Evacuate those districts at once."

German raiders returned to London last night in a minor attack while the British still were cleaning up the debris left by more than 100 planes on the previous night. Some bombs were dropped last night, it was announced, but there were no injuries.

Three Ferry Pilots Die in Crash at Louisville

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 23—Three fliers from the fourth ferrying group stationed at Memphis, Tenn., two of them from Cincinnati, were killed in the flaming wreckage of their C-47 transport plane at Bowman field last night.

Two others were injured, one seriously, Lt. Col. Douglas Goodale, base commander, announced.

The twin-engined ship crashed and burned among a group of flight training planes which were lined up on the run-way. Eight of them were destroyed, Col. Goodale said.

The transport was on a combat training flight.

Names of the two Ohioans were announced by the fourth ferrying group headquarters, Memphis, as: Lt. Ferdinand L. Weston, pilot, former member of group 5111, Ohio Civil Air Patrol, and Lt. Frederick D. White, navigator.

German Shell Kills 5 in U. S. Hospital Area

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 23—Explosion of a German shell in the hospital area of the Anzio beachhead yesterday killed five soldiers and left a dozen in hospitals today for treatment of wounds. The dead and wounded included patients and hospital personnel, but no nurses.

The hospital area is well marked with red crosses.

The shells apparently came from a tank in the German lines.

Churchill Admits Charter in Need of Clarification

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

British Prime Minister Churchill is used to worldwide audiences, but keen attention will be paid his statement in parliament that there will be renewed consultation between the principal Allies on the application of the Atlantic charter.

Need of clarification of this historic Allied pledge to mankind long has been apparent. If proof of that were necessary we should find it in the adroit manner in which Mr. Churchill sidestepped any commitment regarding specific application of the document.

However, we don't need further proof than we've long had in the demands from many countries for enlightenment. Self-determination is the big issue.

Concern in East

I've already reported in this column how I was bombarded with anxious inquiries in the Middle East and Far East on my last trip abroad. Not only anxiety but fears exist both in the orient and in the western world.

Churchill declined to be more specific than to say that "the Atlantic charter stands as a declaration of the spirit and purpose in which its signatories are waging this war—not without success—and that it implies no pact or bargain with our enemies." He left it to those new consultations among the "principal" Allies to deal with this pressing problem which is as full of explosive as a block-buster.

The further the war has progressed the more evident it has become that there will have to be some "adaptation" of the declaration of self-determination in certain cases. This means heart-burnings for some nations.

Only last week there was an attack on the Atlantic charter in the house of commons on the ground that "where it is not platitudinous" the declaration "contains principles highly dangerous to the British and Allied cause." A motion supported by 70 members to debate the charter was turned down by Premier Churchill, unless the hostile members wished to make it the subject of a "vote of censure" of the government—which they did not.

London Times View

An illuminating exposition of one strong trend of thought about the charter in Britain was given by the London Times in an editorial last Monday. It should be noted that this great paper often has been inspired in its utterances, although it isn't the official mouthpiece of the government.

"Whatever may have been true in past centuries," said the Times, "The division of Europe today into twenty or thirty sovereign independent units, owing no allegiance to any higher authority, is incompatible with the military security and economic well-being of the European peoples. This is a hard, irrefutable fact. To attempt to override it on the grounds of any general theory of self-determination would be an act not of high political principle but of political madness."

We are as I see it on the verge of a period of hard-boiled and sometimes harsh realities. What the Big Three—America, Britain and Russia—have to iron out is whether there's any clash between idealism and these stern realities. While one can foresee headaches and heartaches, nothing has arisen thusfar to challenge the broad general principles of the original declarations.

However, nothing has happened either to alter the trend towards division of the world into spheres of influence over which will preside the dominant nations.

Farm Bureau Meeting Is Held at Hepburn

BRICKER WILL CALL SESSION IN APRIL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 23—Gov. Bricker plans to call a special session of the legislature next month to amend the state's election laws so that Ohioans in the armed services will have adequate opportunity to vote.

A decision to convene the general assembly "the latter part of April" was made to give congress time to pass another federal soldier-vote bill should President Roosevelt veto the one now before him, Bricker said yesterday after a meeting with Republican legislative leaders and others.

This still would permit liberalizing of the state's election laws in time to get ballots to Ohioans in the armed services, he added.

The governor said laws would be amended so all Ohioans in the armed forces could vote for federal, state and local candidates.

At the special session the legislature will provide machinery only for the coming November election, the governor said, and action pertaining to elections in the future will be considered at the regular session next January.

Prior to the conference, attended by some 25 leaders, Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel conferred with Bricker and proposed election law changes.

One proposal was extension of the time for obtaining and returning absent voters ballots from 30 to 90 days.

A committee was named to prepare legislation to be considered at the special election. It was directed to report back to the governor by April 4.

of Germany and enemies of Britain and Russia because American leaders thought that by so doing they would have more chance of getting Finland to quit the war.

When the point is reached where President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull decide this chance no longer exists there will be no further reason for maintaining relations.

The Finnish government's reluctance to make peace, as it is understood here, is based more on fear of Russian future policy than on any specific item in terms offered by Moscow.

There is a conviction here that if the Finns could receive some unquestionable assurance that the Russians would not seek any domination over Finland in the future, or attempt to interfere in Finland's internal affairs, Helsinki would accept the Russian terms immediately.

Morgenthau's Tax Aid Resigns Treasury Post

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — Randolph Paul bowed out of the administration's turbulent tax scene today in an anti-climax to the treasury's losing fight for $8,000,000,000 in additional wartime revenue.

Paul, who left a lucrative practice as a corporation tax attorney to become Secretary Morgenthau's chief tax advisor and later treasury general counsel as well, submitted his resignation to President Roosevelt yesterday.

A White House announcement of its acceptance late in the day came as a surprise despite recurrent reports Paul would quit because of a widening breach between him and Morgenthau.

Paul, 53, represented the administration in three major tax proposals to congress that saw the treasury's revenue more than triple. The final demand, however, was shaved from an original $10,500,000,000 figure to a $2,315,000,000 measure, enacted into law only over a presidential veto.

BUS STRIKE ENDS

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, March 23—Paul S. Hennessey, general traffic manager of Teche-Greyhound Lines, announced today that a two-day work stoppage of 800 bus drivers, maintenance crews and station agents of the lines in five southeastern states was ended at 6 a. m. and that full service was resumed.

CALAIS LEFT ABLAZE

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 23—Four great columns of black smoke boiled up from the French channel port of Calais today, indicating much of the city was ablaze. Coastal observers thought the fires probably resulted from air attacks. American Liberators attacked that area Tuesday.

POSSIBLE GERMAN MOVES IN BALKANS. Threatened by the Russian drive into Bessarabia from the northeast, German forces, having occupied Hungary, were reported planning to extend full military occupation (broken arrows) to Rumania and Bulgaria in order to bolster their Balkan defenses. Rumania is allied with Germany in the war with Russia, but Bulgaria is not.

RUSSIA

below the fallen German bastion of Mogilev Podolski, Moscow dispatches indicated today, and Berlin reported the opening of a new Soviet offensive from the Tarnopol-Proskurov sector apparently aimed at trapping large Nazi forces in the Vinnitsa area.

An increased threat to Rumania developed as Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian army widened its Dniester river bridgehead below Mogilev Podolski in a smashing drive the Russians said carried the town of Nadushita, 18 miles north of the important rail junction by Byeltsi and 20 miles west of the Dniester river.

Other Soviet forces, Moscow announced, captured Yarishev and Kurilovtsky-Murovanny, respectively 10 and 24 miles northwest of Mogilev Podolski, while Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's first Ukrainian army continued its steady push southwest of Kremenets toward the industrial center of Lwow. More than 1,000 Germans were killed, many prisoners and much booty captured in a single battle in this area, a Soviet bulletin asserted.

On the southeastern end of the 500-mile-long Ukrainian front, Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's forces staggered the German line by capturing the important railway junction of Pervomiask, driving to the approaches of Vosnesensk, 85 miles northeast of Odessa, and reaching a point eight miles from Nikolaev on the Bug river estuary, Moscow announced.

Pervomaisk and Vosnesensk, 40 miles to the south, had been blocking the Russian advance on Nikolaev and Odessa. Fall of Vosnesensk, which appeared imminent, would clear the path to both Black sea ports.

BRYAN, O., March 23—A Wabash passenger train struck an automobile three miles north of Edgerton last night, wiping out a family of four. The dead are Walter E. Kinnison, 48, of Edon; his wife, Osia, 46, and their two sons, John, 13, and James, 10. The collision occurred on Ohio route 49.

Scales Inaccurate, Baby Weighed Only 15 Pounds

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N. C., March 23—A baby girl born to a Negro couple, Mr. and Mrs. Anon Harris, which was reported to have weighed 25 pounds, actually weighed only 15 pounds.

The attending physician said a recheck disclosed the scales were out of adjustment. The child died 12 hours after birth.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right
If you have to get up 3 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney and Bladder trouble often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the Kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backache, or swollen ankles, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy relief in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory. Cystex costs only 35c at druggists.

Letters from Our Readers

CALL FOR EXPLANATION

[illegible] The Star: A soldier is [illegible] busy to be writing [illegible] printed in newspapers. [illegible] is "for all the boys" [illegible] county.

[illegible] raised my ire to take [illegible] at the end of a [illegible] and read in my favorite [illegible] that four young men, [illegible] age, are allowed to [illegible] Cain back home.

[illegible] I realize all such information strictly confidential, I [illegible] selective service boards [illegible] county owe the boys [illegible] in the service and the [illegible] have so splendidly [illegible] up in every way, an explanation of some kind.

I'm not the type who believes [illegible] should be in the Army [illegible] legitimate reasons, and [illegible] may be in this case, [illegible] it doesn't help morale a lot [illegible] read of such things.

Well, it won't hurt morale a lot, [illegible] the men over there, and [illegible] here, are mostly too busy to read our home town papers, welcome as they are.

PFC. BERNARD BROOKS
Camp Van Dorn, Miss.

SUGGESTS SIGN CHANGE

Editor of The Star: I have been reading the letters written about the Holy Week service in the theater. I would like to ask some one to repaint the signs I see as I come to Marion to church, which read, "Come To Church Sunday." Please put "Come To the Theater," as I am so used to attending church I might forget when the services would be in progress at the theater and go to church. Yes, Rea Dotson, shame on us again and again for being such weak and weary Christians that we want just enough religion to get by. We are holding on to Christ with one hand and locked arms with the world.

My Bible says, "Be ye holy for I am holy." God expects a Christion to be holy every week and not just one week out of the year. Christ went all the way for us and we only want to go half way with Him. I thank God for free speech, freedom of press, and freedom of religion.

MRS. MARY GOFF
R. R. 2, Cardington, O.

DEFINITION OF "HOLY"

Editor of The Star: So many people have been voicing their opinions on the idea of holding "Holy Week" in the Marion theater that I wish to express my opinion also. I cannot understand how anyone, especially supposedly Christian, could possibly conceive such an idea. I, myself, am not a Christian, but I certainly don't believe in misrepresenting the word "Holy" that much. A letter was printed stating that the person expected to see some movie stars in heaven. This person will not see any movie stars there, unless they repent of their sins and conduct themselves as Christians should. I am still in high school but I most certainly know the difference between "Holy" and "Unholy." Churches are built especially for people to worship God in their own way. And I cannot see how anyone can set themselves up equal to Christ and portray Him or His associates on the screen or on the stage. Any preacher who would support such a cause as having "Holy Week" in the Marion theater is not my idea of a preacher. I am most invariably against this.

A SCHOOL BOY.

AGAINST "HORROR" FILMS

Editor of The Star: Last Sunday evening I happened by chance to listen to the Jimmy Fidler program. For benefit of those who might not recognize the name, Jimmy Fidler is a Hollywood movie commentator.

Last Sunday he brought to the attention of his listening audience the subject of horror war pictures and the effect they have on the young generation.

I see only an occasional movie, and then, because I want relaxation and diversion from present day worries. I select a movie which will be entertaining—but not overly exciting. Thus you see I have seen no pictures depicting the horror and tortures of war.

However, this is not true of my 10-year-old son. A year ago he visited an aunt of his in a distant city and because movies there, like here in Marion, are the chief amusement center of children his age, she allowed him to go to a nearby movie quite frequently. One afternoon she had no sooner returned home after seeing him safely into the theater than he bounced into the door quite upset. Fearing he was ill she questioned him only to discover that he came home because he didn't like to watch "those Nazis beat that girl." That was a year ago but yet every now and then he awakens in his sleep, cold perspiration on his face and tells me he was dreaming of that show.

Recently he came home from school almost too sick to eat and digest his dinner properly. He gave me this explanation — Tom Brown, John Smith and Bill Jones had all told him various parts of a movie they had seen the night before. It was the Purple Heart. For those of you who saw the picture I imagine you will remember the parts which upset him so.

Perhaps you will say, "Well surely the children don't need to see the picture just because adults do!" I have felt the same way. However, many parents enjoy seeing these pictures but can not go without taking their children. Thinking of their own amusement rather than the effect the picture will have on their children, they go. The following day the child who has not been permitted to see it has the whole gruesome thing acted for him over and over again.

There surely must be a solution to the problem. I would suggest showing these films only in the middle of the week and then forbidding any child under high school age admittance.

Surely a child of that age is too young to be "dragged" about for such "amusement" anyway. If these same children were kept at home I'm sure the school teachers would see a decided change in their pupils. Their sleepy heads would soon disappear.

Then I, too, like Jimmy Fidler, would suggest to the theater managers that they provide at least on Friday, Saturday and possibly Sunday the billing of such pictures as The Wizard of Oz, The Weaver Brothers and Elvira, Snow White, Naughty Marietta (for high school students' enjoyment) and hundreds of others of these good, clean, enjoyable pictures.

If they've been here before what then? Didn't the grown ups enjoy Gone with the Wind more than once? Children react very much in the same way.

A BOOSTER FOR BETTER, CLEANER MOVIES.

Ohioans Missing in Action Listed

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23—The war department reported today the names of U. S. soldiers, with next of kin in Ohio, listed as missing in action. They included:

European Area:

Pitts, Staff Sgt. James W.—Mrs. Florence Pitts, mother, Nelsonville.

Mediterranean Area:

Belcher, Pvt. Charles C.—Mrs. Marybelle Belcher, mother, Waynesville.

Blaschak, Pvt. George A.—Mrs. Mary E. Blaschak, mother, Empire.

Brown, Sgt. Don R.—Mrs. Clara Brown, mother, Forest.

Grooms, Staff Sgt. Given C.—Mrs. Hazel O. Grooms, mother, Spargursville.

Jones, Tech. 5th Gr. Lee R.—Mrs. Maude Jones, mother, Buffalo.

Kretz, Pfc. Robert M.—Mrs. Helen J. Kretz, wife, Napoleon.

McLay, Staff Sgt. Myron A.—Mrs. Helen McLay, wife, Canfield.

Mason, Staff Sgt. James N.—Mrs. Bessie Mason, mother, Portsmouth.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Mrs. A. H. Exton was installed as president when the Katherine Woods auxiliary of First Presbyterian church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. R. A. Todd of 638 Windsor street. Others installed are: Miss Bess Snyder, vice president; Miss Lottie Touchman, secretary; Miss Carolyn Dewar, assistant secretary, and Miss Helen Atchison, treasurer. Officers were installed by Mrs. J. H. Hungate, only remaining member of a group which sponsored the organization of the auxiliary in 1921. Miss Eloise Tschannen conducted devotions and prayer service. She also read a letter from the Indian Training school at Tucson, Ariz., thanking the group for a box of books and notions sent there recently. Mrs. Exton read an article entitled, "Lilies for Easter." She also appointed her committees for the year.

Former Marion Man Gets New Promotion

M. C. Richmond, former resident of Marion, who was sales representative for General Foods in this district for 14 years and who in November was promoted to the Cincinnati office as assistant district manager, was recently promoted to sales manager of the Dayton territory. Mr. Richmond will take over his new duties in Dayton, April 1. The family, now residing in Cincinnati, will move to Dayton in the summer.

According to a report by the Kansas state agriculture statistician, wages of Kansas farm laborers have more than tripled since the depression days.

EAGLE INSULATION CO. OPENS BUSINESS HERE

Headed by R. A. Anderson; Will Serve Five Counties.

R. A. Anderson, branch manager in Marion for the Holland Furnace Co. for the last seven years, today announced he has relinquished the Holland agency to establish a new mineral wool insulation business in Marion. He has acquired a franchise from the Eagle-Picher Lead Co. for Marion and five nearby counties, and will operate under the name of the Eagle Insulation Co. with headquarters in his home at 600 Summit street.

His operation setup will include his office at home, a warehouse yet to be selected, a truck carrying equipment for pneumatic application of mineral wool insulation, a crew of workers and a sales force. The counties in his territory are Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Hardin, Wyandot and Delaware.

Mr. Anderson recently returned from Chicago where he took part in a series of discussions on fuel conservation at the 1944 Midwestern Eagle-Picher Home Insulation Seminar on March 9, 10 and 11, held yearly to enable representatives from many states to meet and discuss their problems.

Marion Flier In Large Ohio Group of New Officers

LT. JAMES S. LOWELL

James S. Lowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lowell of 659 East Church street, received his wings and second lieutenancy on March 12 at Lubbock Field, Lubbock, Tex., according to a report from the Central Flying Training Command at Randolph Field, Tex.

Lt. Lowell was one of 299 Ohioans who graduated on that date from the Army Air Forces training command schools bringing honor to Ohio for leading the other states with the largest class.

Graduates from near Marion receiving wings and second lieutenant commissions were Curtis W. Keller of near Attica, Aloe field, Victoria; Walter L. Haaser of Bucyrus, Blackland field, Waco; Norman W. Fleming of Cardington, Eagle Pass field, Eagle Pass; Robert L. Benedict of Edison, Aloe field, Victoria; Harlan R. Leimenstoll of near Nevada, Pampa; Daryle R. Stuckey of near Sycamore, Ellington, Allen N. Myers of Ashley, Lubbock field.

Lt. Lowell was graduated in 1940 from Central High school, Trenton N. J. and was attending the University of Pennsylvania when he enlisted Oct. 13, 1942. His wife, Mrs. Marie Lowell of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been with him since their marriage two months ago. The young man's parents came to Marion about two years ago when his father was transferred here from Trenton. He is sales engineer with the Universal Cooler Corporation.

He spent a 12-day leave with his parents before reporting to Randolph Field, Tex. for a brief training course before being assigned as a bomber instructor at Lubbock Field. His wife will accompany him to his new assignment.

WALDO CLASS MEETS

The R. F. O. M. class of Waldo Methodist church met recently with Bob Kaelber of near Waldo. Prayer was offered by Rev. Joseph Hoffman, who is to be inducted into the armed forces soon. A play written by Bernice and Betty Ann Kraus was presented by the group. Contests were played with awards going to Rev. Hoffman, Mrs. Ruth Retterer, Miss Virginia Bender, Jimmy Clunk, Don Kaelber, Harold Demorest and William Clunk.

Former Marionite Takes Part in Patrol Jap Hunt

Pfc. LeRoy A. Barnett of Columbus, who is serving with the 37th Ohio Division on Bougainville, was a member of a patrol which carried on a Jap hunt recently over a sector of Bougainville Island which previously had not been reconnoitered. Pfc. Barnett, who is 35, was born and reared in Marion, and is the son of Mrs. Harry Green of 483 Olney avenue. He went into service April 9 last year and has been overseas five months. His wife, Mrs. Hazel A. Barnett, a nurse, and their 17-months-old son, David Michael, live in Columbus.

Landing under cover of darkness near the American-held Empress Augusta Bay beachhead to Kurano Mission, the raiders forded the Tsinamuto river which brought them to the plateau on which the mission was established. From Kuraio Mission patrols fanned out along the native trails, one group coming across the bivouac area only recently occupied by the enemy. In their haste to clear the area and avoid contact with the American troops the Japs left behind their heavy impediments, including a kitchen, tents, command post, radio equipment and heavy armament.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

A special program for Consecration Sunday in the Prospect Methodist church has been planned for the morning service at 10:30 Sunday, and preparations for Palm Sunday and Easter observance are under way. Rev. J. R. Wynd, pastor, will give a message. Persons having "Master's treasury" banks are to bring them to the service. A "peace forum" will be held at the church at 4 p. m. with H. C. Secrest leading a discussion on "When the Firing Ceases." The mid-week Bible study subject Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. will be "The Fellowship of Suffering," part of a series on "God and the Problem of Suffering." Easter music will be rehearsed by the choir Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.

Two Clubs Elect New Officers at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, March 23—Election of officers was held by two Galion literary clubs this week.

The Tourist club chose Mrs. Lester Ritz as president. Others elected are: vice president, Mrs. R. G. Sayre; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Glen O. Gwinner. The election took place at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Gwinner.

Results of the election held by the Research club at the home of Miss Grace Weston were: president, Mrs. Howard Duhamel; first vice president, Mrs. M. A. Fovenmire; second vice president, Mrs. C. M. Stover; secretary, Mrs. Harry L. Volk; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Fulton; historian, Mrs. Fred Tullis.

A contribution of $10 was voted to the Red Cross War Fund when the Eastern Star Embroidery circle met this week. Two new members, Mrs. C. H. Mains and Mrs. Herman Eichhorn, were enrolled. An Easter story was told by a guest, Mrs. Ella Weirick, and Mrs. Ralph Sipes won a contest.

* * *

Guest of honor at a party given this week by Mrs. Robert Yochem and Mrs. Harley Hershner was Mrs. Fred Kruger. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Yochem.

A farewell party was held for Mrs. A. E. McCullough, who is leaving the city soon, by Mrs. John Fingar and Mrs. E. R. Rehm at the Fingar home.

* * *

Members of the senior class of Galion High school will be guests at the May meeting of the Senior High School P.-T. A., it was decided at a recent meeting. The P.-T. A. also planned to give assistance for a party in honor of the high school band. Mrs. Joseph Korb presided for the meeting and named Mrs. Kenneth Ness, Mrs. Don Beck and Mrs. Ralph Evans as a nominating committee to prepare the list of officers for election at the next meeting.

Galion Provides Funds for Service Center

Special to The Star

GALION, March 23—The sum of $695.60 has been contributed toward the fund to assist the Service Center at Crestline, it was announced by the Galion Service Fund committee of the Galion Merchants' association. The committee will mail a check for $100 per month to the Center, and contributions will continue monthly as long as the need exists. Business and professional people in Galion as well as industry, civic and lodge organizations have made the contributions to the committee.

The committee, named by the Galion Merchants' association to raise the fund for the Crestline Service center is composed of L. L. Bender as chairman, Mrs. R. P. Kelley, F. C. Thomas and W. L. Goshorn.

Suit Filed To Test OPA Control of Court Sales

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 23—A suit was filed in probate court here yesterday to determine whether the office of price administration has authority to impose price ceilings at court sales.

The suit is the outgrowth of a dispute over the sale of a farm tractor in the settlement of the estate of Robert Rugg, a farmer near New Albany.

The OPA was named defendant in the suit filed by Rodney Baldwin, attorney for the Rugg estate. It asks a declaratory judgment finding that court sales are not within the scope of the national price control act.

Program Presented at P.-T.A. Meeting

The Greenwood P.-T. A. met Tuesday afternoon at the school with Mrs. Paul Bachman presiding. Musical selections were presented by the second grade pupils, followed by showing of a film, "Health and Welfare of the Community." The picture dealt with the prevention of colds and showed ways to check the disease from spreading.

Early day Mexicans indicated their wealth by the amount of decorations on their sombreros.

Mediocre Hitters Turn Into Ruths with New Rocket Ball

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 23—Conversation in the Cleveland Indians training quarters today turned to the 1941 "rocket ball."

The new vitamin-injected baseball was tested yesterday as the team went outdoors for the first time for a six-inning intrasquad game between the "Flame Throwers" and the "Secret Weapons."

No one was giving much thought about the new sphere until 155 pound Jimmy Grant ups and slams a 400-foot home run. Then he ups and hits a long two bagger. Then Pat Seerey, a .222 batter in 26 games with the Tribe last year, got the urge and smacked a homer.

The immediate reaction was that all was not normal. Manager Lou Boudreau was quick to credit the uprising to the ball rather than to any outcropping of latent power in Grant and Seerey, who never have been vicious at the plate.

"If the cover was any tighter it would be a golf ball," Boudreau said as he fondled it. "It actually has a ping when it's hit."

Joe Heving, the major league's only grandpappy, who incidentally is planning to marry again soon, thinks the lively pellet is especially adapted to his sinker.

OK with Mel Harder

Mel Harder figures the ball will be something of a lifesaver to the game.

"I don't think it will make any difference to the pitchers," he theorized, "but I think the game needed something like this ball this season to make hitters out of guys who normally aren't. After all, the fans go to a game to see the ball smacked around. And with most of the power-hitters gone, this new ball, if it is as lively as they say, has come at an opportune time and will take up the slack."

This was the picture in other training camps:

Tomas De La Cruz having caught on with the Cincinnati Reds, in the rhumba department at least, the team may try some more experiments with new Latin American players.

One Chucho Ramos, a Venezuelan outfielder, said in Caracas that he was packing up for Bloomington for a tryout.

The reason Ray Starr doesn't want to pitch for the Reds is that they won't let him hurl every other day to keep his rubber arm in trim. Last year he was on the hill 217 innings in winning 11 and losing 10. There's a rumor the Reds might try to swap Ray to the Chicago Cubs for Lou Novikoff, who would come in handy in the Cincinnati garden.

American League

Detroit — The Detroit Tiger regulars made nine errors in booting away their first intrasquad game to the Yannigans, 8 to 3.

Washington — Skipper Ossie Bluege has slated Roberto Ortiz, six-foot-three 200-pound Cuban for right field, over veterans Jake Powell and Gene Moore. Ortiz hit .304 for Montreal in '43.

St. Louis — Sam Zoldak, 21, and one of the seven southpaw pitchers, is getting plenty of attention. He won 20 and lost 10 at Elmira last year.

Boston — Squad jumps to seven as Yank Terry and outfielder Johnny Lazor report.

Philadelphia — Luke Hamlin arrived with "soft potato pitch" —a new change of pace.

New York — Catcher Joe Glenn leaves today for Navy, but outfielder Roy Weatherly is coming in Tuesday for an undetermined stay. He's passed his induction test.

National League

Chicago—Manager Jimmy Wilson says he's definitely set on Harry (Peanuts) Lowery for third base.

Boston — Mike Sandlock, ex-catcher turned infielder, is worrying 4-F Whitey Wietelman about shortstop job.

St. Louis (Cairo, Ill.) — Big Mort Cooper expected to give Billy Southworth a chance to make him salary-happy in a day or so.

New York — Ace T. Adams, who won 11 and lost seven last year, and one of few serious holdouts, wired he'd be on hand Friday.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Huber Team That Won County Championship

A record of 23 victories and only two defeats spelled a championship title for the Huber Manufacturing Co. team in the Marion County Industrial league when the season closed the middle of this month with three lively playoff games.

The league divided its season into two parts this year, and in the first half of the season the Universal Cooler Corp won the title. Huber won the second half title, and then the two teams went into a playoff series that went the full route of three games before Huber clinched the pennant.

The war laid a heavy hand on the plans of Manager Gene Reith, who is processing room foreman at the Huber and who has managed Huber cage teams for the last three years. A year ago, Huber finished third in the league and was having serious trouble losing players to the armed forces. Only three members of last year's team were available to carry on this season, and since the season opened with a squad of 12, the war has taken other players, cutting the squad down to seven, barely enough to keep going.

Vernon Hensel and Mickey Ferrin were among recent members of the squad to go into military service.

With military service calling many players and new jobs beckoning others, the Huber team this year finished the season with a squad that didn't have a Huber man on it excepting Reith, the manager. It is common practice in the league to recruit outside talent to supplement the players available in the sponsoring company, but this year's unusual situation set a new high mark.

BOWLING RESULTS

Taking over the individual spotlight in Tuesday night bowling lock, stock, and pin was the Man's All-Star league, which was paced by Applegett with a 603 series and Baldauf with a 247 single game at the Marion Recreation Center. Topping Marion Steam Shovel loopers at the Palace Recreation were Phillians, who had a 574 total to lead in the series department, and L. Williams, whose 206 was high line. P. Shockney ranked first in the six-team Army Air Corps mixed circuit at the Palace with a 181 game and 480 three-game count.

Other high games in the All-Star circuit were Schuler 201, Norris 206 and 201, Applegett 215 and 201, Greenland 206 and 202, Ledley 200, Lockstead 227, Gunder 214, Shoemaker 201, Metz 220, Tarr 201, Pickering 201, Coss 201, Cass 238, Hanovich 207, Messmore 210 and 200, and Cookston 205. Other Steam Shovel keglers to find their way into the 200 group were Schnittke 202, Redding 204, Weis 203, Henney 205, Hathaway 200, and Alexander 202.

Standings in the Marion Steam Shovel and Men's All-Star leagues together with individual three-game-series totals in all three Tuesday night loops follow:

Tommy Bell Whips Maxie Berger in 1st Round at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 23 — Matchmaker Larry Atkins had a new meal ticket today as a replacement for the one he lost when Jimmy Bivins, the country's number one active heavyweight, was accepted by the army.

He's Tommy Bell, the hard-hitting Youngstown welterweight who disposed of veteran Maxie Berger in the opening heat of their scheduled 10-rounder at the arena last night.

A hard right to the head coupled with a fractured right ankle kept Berger down for the count at 2:27 of the opening round but the ringsiders were convinced that even without the injury Maxie wouldn't have been able to go the distance.

Berger said he injured the ankle in attempting to twist away from the punch which floored him. The Montreal welter didn't lose consciousness and attempted to rise as the toll reached six but fell back on the canvas when he put his weight on the right leg.

A pair of vicious rights had staggered Berger before he went down as Bell rushed out of his corner obviously intent on a quick knockout. Maxie landed one good punch and it spurred Bell to deliver the blow which ended the bout. The triumph was the Ohioan's 37th in a row and his 26th via the knockout route.

Berger came in at 149½ while Bell scaled 148¾. The card attracted 7,488 customers who contributed to a gate of $18,364.

The scheduled eight-round semifinal also was featured by a quick finish as Fitzy Fitzpatrick of Cleveland belted out Phil Muscato in 57 seconds of the opening stanza. Fitzpatrick weighed 167, giving away four and one-half pounds.

Another Youngstown scrapper, lightweight Tony Janiro, was awarded a third round technical knockout over Cisco Diaz of Buffalo in a bout listed for six rounds. The weights: Janiro 137, Diaz 135.

Brief Bits from Tourney Floor

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 23 — Bits and tidbits about Ohio's 1944 final high school basketball tournaments....

Not one of the four finalists in the class B tournament—Lima St. John's, Akron Ellet, Philo and Worthington—ever has played in a final state tournament, at least since the field was divided into two classes back in 1923....

Most basketball fans still like to think of the last 16 teams as making up the final tournament field and, using that as a yardstick, all four teams left in Class A now have reached a final meet four times....But only Martins Ferry and Canton Lehman ever before got as far along as the round of four.

Martins Ferry did it twice, winning the championship in 1941 and being eliminated by Newark last year in the four-team final tournament....In 1942 Lehman reached the round of four but lost there to Xenia Central which eventually won the title.

Middletown never has been able to get by its first game after reaching the final sixteen until this year. The Middies dropped first round engagements in 1937, 1941 and 1943....Toledo Woodward reached the second round in 1936 but lost in the first round in 1938 and last year.

Fans at the class A tournament will see two boys who made the Associated Press All-Ohio team. They are James Dorland of Canton Lehman and Alex Groza of Martins Ferry.

DE PAUL, ST. JOHNS TO PLAY FOR TITLE

NEW YORK, March 23—DePaul of Chicago and St. John's of Brooklyn—each with the ability to battle from behind and win—meet Sunday night in Madison Square Garden for the national invitation basketball title.

Each spotted the foe the lead last night and then triumphed.

DePaul, behind 15 to 2 at the end of 10 minutes, won over Oklahoma Aggies by 41 to 38, while St. John's, after trailing practically all the way, spurted in the last two minutes to snatch a 48-45 victory over Kentucky.

St. John's defending champions and Kentucky hit the halfway mark tied at 24-24, but the Blue Grass boys spurted to an eight-point lead in the first three minutes of the second session, only to lose to the closing rush of the Brooklyn club. It was Kentucky's second loss of the season, the other being a two-pointer to Illinois.

Wilbur Schu of the losers and Bill Kotsores of St. John's split the scoring heights with 15 each. Kentucky and the Aggies will meet in Sunday's preliminary for third place.

Countywide Athletic Banquet Scheduled

The first countywide athletic banquet for boys taking part in the county athletic tournaments will be held Saturday, April 1, at the Waldo school. Boys taking part in the tournaments and those prevented from playing because of illness or other circumstances, superintendents and coaches of the county schools will attend the meeting.

WRESTLING TONIGHT

Jack Moore, leading Junior Heavyweight, will make his first Marion appearance in over three years when he meets Jackie Nichols in one of the semi-windups tonight at the Marion Armory. Moore has been appearing in main events in Columbus and other larger cities. A win over Nichols tonight will place him high with the local fans. The other semi-bout will see the popular Frankie Hart wrestling Angelo Martinelli. The top spot of the evening is the return match between Whitey Walberg and the Black Panther. Much interest is shown around this match and one of the biggest houses of the season is expected. First match at 8.30. — Adv.

McKechnie Puts Emphasis On Pitching on 1920-1930 Team

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Editor

CINCINNATI, March 23—Bill McKechnie, manager of National League champions in three cities, has a reputation with baseball men as being one of the finest judges of pitching the National game has ever known.

Anytime the present Reds' mentor selects an All-Star team, you can bet your last cent that his pitchers are the tops.

With that thought in mind, cast your glimmers on the All-Star team of the 1920-1930 era selected by McKechnie, for AP FEATURES. Previously, Connie Mack named the baseball greats before 1900, Honus Wagner, 1900-1910; and Tris Speaker, 1910-1920.

Bill names Walter Johnson of Washington, Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Phils, Cubs and Cards; and Lefty Grove of the Athletics as the best pitchers in the 1920 decade.

His catchers are Gabby Hartnett, Cubs; and Mickey Cochrane, Athletics.

On first base, the Deacon has put Bill Terry on the Giants, second base, Rogers Hornsby of the Cards; third base, Pie Traynor, Pirates; shortstop, Glenn Wright, of the Pirates and Dodgers.

Al Simmons, Athletics, is in left field; Eddie Roush, Reds, center field; and the one and only Babe Ruth, Yankees, right field.

When McKechnie finished naming his team, he said:

"Hope that is what you want."

Assured that it was a tough team to beat, McKechnie said:

"The more you look at the various All-Stars by decades, the more you have to agree with Mr. Mack that it isn't fair to name them any other way."

Well, let's see. McKechnie is famous for his picthers, so let's take them first.

Alexander, Johnson and Grove! What a staff! But when you think of them as All-Time pitchers, you run into trouble for old-timers like Christy Mathewson, Cy Young, Big Ed Walsh, Chief Bender, Rube Waddell, Tim Keefe and John Clarkson, to mention a few, left plenty of records to remember them by.

The same is true all through the team. Name a player over all the years for any position and, outside of the great Bambino, you can think of another one who is just as deserving.

Ruth will always have a place on any All-baseball team. He made the most of his home runs during the decade in which McKechnie selected him. Here's his record:

1920, 54 (his first big year), 1921, 59; 1922, 35; 1923, 41; 1924, 46; 1925, 25 (in 98 games); 1926, 47; 1927, 60; 1928, 54; 1929, 46, 1930, 49; 1931, 46; 1932, 41. From then on the Babe's homer totals dropped down.

All in all, the big fellow smacked 714 round trippers and he had a lifetime batting average of .342, which is some clouting over 23 years. It's truly an all-time feat.

BILL McKECHNIE

Next and Last: Joe McCarthy picks his all-star team for the 1930-1940 era.

Harding High School Students To Launch New War Bond Drive

"Adopt a Service Man or Woman" is the slogan of a new war bond drive which will open next week at Harding High school.

The student council bond committee met with secretaries of home rooms at the school this morning to decide which branch of the service the various rooms want to equip. Price lists of clothing and equipment of men and women in the services have been obtained and goals for rooms will be purchase of an amount of bonds to equal price of the supplies.

Miss Isabelle Stump, faculty advisor for the drive, said she hoped the total goal of $2,589 would be raised in the first two weeks of the new campaign. The campaign will run until coming May [illegible]. A goal for the rest of the campaign has not been set. Purchase of an army field kitchen has been under consideration but definite arrangements will not be made until later.

Prices of Equipment

Cost of individual service outfits including clothing and equipment as distributed for home room goals are: soldier, $164; Marine, $200; sailor, $135; pilot, $175; Coast Guardsman, $140; paratrooper, $635; Army nurse (uniform only), $250; WAC, $127; SPAR, $189; WAVE, $139; Navy nurse (uniform alone), and $250; Woman Marine, $135.

In two previous drives, totals of $2,081 and $15,312 were raised for the purchase of three army "jeeps" and an army training plane, respectively. Anyone in Marion interested in helping the school to reach its quota in the bond drive may purchase their bonds through home room salesmen when bond sales are conducted on Thursday mornings.

Outside help was particularly appreciated during the last drive when the Fourth War Loan stimulated sales and sent campaign totals soaring. Some parents whose sons or daughters were graduated from Harding and are now in service have been buying bonds through the school although they have no children attending Harding now. These purchases will honor Harding and its graduates at the same time.

Receives Citations

The school has received citations from the Treasury department for its work in helping sell war bonds both in the school and the community. Since the forthcoming drive will be the last to be staged before the dismissal of school for the annual summer vacation, the school committee is particularly anxious to have final goals reached before school closes.

The student council committee in charge of the drive for which Miss Stump is faculty advisor is composed of Arlene Hill, chairman, Frank DeSanto, Elizabeth Kerns and Fritz Guy. The committee works in cooperation with home room secretaries in handling sales of bonds to students.

EVANGELIST TALKS TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Young People's Night Announced for Friday.

Another large crowd filled Epworth Methodist church Wednesday night to hear Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, conducting the two weeks' union evangelistic mission here.

Mrs. Smith sang and Prof. J. W. Yoder of Huntington, Pa., led congregational singing. Rev. Marvin Lewis read Scripture and offered prayer. It was announced that a loudspeaker will be installed in order that the services may be heard in all parts of the church with equal volume.

A special announcement was made of a "Young People's night" service to be held Friday with a reserved seat section for those with special tickets to be held open until 7:20 p. m. The service will open at 7:30.

The sermon Wednesday night was directed principally to apply to the church member or professed Christian. Speaking of the great love of God for His children, the evangelist brought out the point that in turn the Christian should so love God that he is willing to yield over all selfishness and worldly ways and dedicate his life to do God's will and service. If the professed Christian has not given over his life to God's directing he is not a child of God, he said.

"There is no uncertainty in a man's own heart or in the opinion of his neighbors as to whether he is a Christian or not," e declared, and continued, "Being born into the family of God is not a theory, it is an experience. There are new birth marks when one is born again. If a man sins he has not experienced the new birth, for 'sin is of the devil.' His attitudes toward sin will show his true relationship to God. The Christian will make his influence felt in the community and the nation. It is the business of Christians to vote and support moral issues. The Christian man or woman will pray daily 'make me more like Jesus.'"

Club Co-Ed Project Pushed

Y's Men's Club Committee Named To Arrange for Opening; Members Volunteer as Workers.

Completion of work on the new Club Co-Ed room being installed at the Y. M. C. A. by the Y's Men's service club drew nearer Wednesday night as a committee was appointed to make plans for opening night of the project. Members of the committee are Arthur Zachman, John Waddell and W. D. McGee.

Club members, carpenters and electricians are still working to bring the room to completion soon. A look into the work area off a large room at the rear of the Y reveals that a soda fountain has already been set up. The first coast of paint was applied to the walls Wednesday night and linoleum was laid. The room will be decorated in a color scheme of cream and green. The composition ceiling covering is of cream, the soda fountain is green and final color of the walls will be a soft cream color.

Booths Yet to Come

Booths where members may sip at sodas dispensed from the fountain will be added later. A platform will be built in a large adjacent room to accomodate live bands which will occassionally supplement juke boxes for dances.

Although opening day seems close, uncertainty of receiving materials and obtaining sufficient skilled labor make it almost impossible to set a date. Members said that a day for the public opening might be set next week. Students may be called upon to help speed work on the project to completion. Meanwhile hundreds of students and adults acted as a barometer for rising public interest in the work by stopping at the Y for a look at the project.

Reduced membership fees will be the order of the day when the club opens, members of the board of directors, made up of high school students, has decided. The club will be open on the usual Friday night schedule and other nights may be included. Adult hostesses will welcome members at the club during the times it is in operation.

Boxing Plans Studied

Tentative plans were made to give four Marion boys opportunity to participate in the A. A. U. Golden Gloves boxing tournament of the Columbus Recreation department to be held in Columbus, March 28 and 29. Wayne McCune who is in charge of arrangements, said that final plans must await a decision of the A. A. U. as to whether Marion fighters will be allowed to participate. The club made arrangements to present cloth emblems to be worn on sweaters or jackets to all entrants in the recent Marion Golden Gloves tournament. The emblems will represent a pair of golden boxing gloves. A donation of $25 was given to the Red Cross. Guests at the meeting were Dr. A. J. Wagner, James Mondeau and William Stoudt.

Bucyrus Marine Corporal Awarded Medal in Pacific

(The following article was written by Technical Sergeant Theo. C. Link, St. Louis, Mo., a Marine Corps combat correspondent).

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC — (Delayed) — Marine Corporal Paul A. Crokie of Bucyrus, O., has been awarded the silver star medal for his participation in a "hazardous" reconnaissance patrol on a Japanese-held island last August.

The award was approved by Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific area and South Pacific force.

Crokie, who took part in the Bougainville invasion, was a scout at the time he made the dangerous trip described in the official award. The citation states:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy while serving with a patrol operating in the south Pacific area on August 23-26, 1943. During this period Corporal Crokie was a member of a party of Marines who were landed on an enemy-held island for reconnaissance patrol, seeking information as to the terrain and hydrographic conditions and hostile dispositions.

"He remained with this party on the island for three days during which time important information was gathered for future use. He volunteered and embarked on this hazardous mission without regard to personal safety, knowing full well that no assistance could be expected from our forces during the assignment. His courageous conduct contributed materially to the success of the mission and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

Crokie, 20 years old, is a son of Mrs. Esther Crokie, 1202 Teddy avenue, Bucyrus. He enlisted May 27, 1942 at Mansfield, O. Prior to enlistment, he worked for the Swan Rubber Co. in Bucyrus.

ADOPT STREET PROGRAM

BUCYRUS—Legislation authorizing the allocation of Bucyrus' share of the proposed widening and resurfacing of route 30N through the city of Bucyrus from Vollrath bridge to the East Mansfield street underpass, passed by city council Tuesday night, paved the way for the state highway department to proceed with the work.

She is survived by a son, Raymond Grant of the Kumfort Hotel. Burial will be made in Stantontown cemetery near Ashley. Friends may call at the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals after 7:30 tonight.

Anniversary Marked by Canby Pythian Sisters

Charter members were honored Wednesday night at the 44th anniversary meeting of Canby Temple No. 152, Pythian Sisters. The five remaining charter members out of the original 39 who were honored guests of the group were Mrs. Clara Watzel of Columbus, Mrs. Ruth Shoats, Mrs. Minnie Creasap, Mrs. Blanche Maas and Mrs. Dora Lewis. Preceding the meeting, a potluck dinner was served. Mrs. Millie K. Lester and Mrs. Hazel Clark were initiated as new members. Mrs. Gertrude Kinnear was in charge and the following were in charge of arrangements: Mrs. Emma Porter, Mrs. Allie Eibling, Mrs. Zelma Everett, Mrs. Louise Griffith and Mrs. Daisy Pelty.

Drastic Limit Seen on Draft Deferments

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 23 — The war production board, army and navy do not plan to recommend men under 26 for industrial deferments unless the items they are working on are rated as "critical" and urgently required to meet immediate war objectives, it was learned today.

An extremely tough policy, emphasizing requirement for invasion weapons, was indicated in a letter tentatively drawn by C. E. Wilson, chairman of the production executive committee, to be sent to manufacturers, telling them what to do if they have young men in the critical programs whom they believe to be irreplaceable.

RAILS SHOWING SOME POWER

Liquors and Aircrafts Also Good but Most Industrials Are Weak.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 23—Rails made another stab at an advance in today's stock market, along with liquors, aircrafts and scattered specialties, but most industrials failed to discover much recovery inspiration.

There were a few gainers of 1 to 2 points after the opening although fractional variations ruled near the fourth hour. Dealings were well under those of the preceding session.

While Wall Street still was bullish over business and political prospects, there was further profit taking on the recent substantial rise.

The majority of yesterday's lively oils took a rest. Steels and motors did little or nothing.

Highs for 1944 or longer were recorded for Allied Mills, Canada Dry and White Rock. In front were Schenley, National Distillers, Distillers Corp., Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Houston Oil, Barber Asphalt, Santa Fe and Atlantic Coast Line.

SALES ACT AS SPUR TO PRICE OF RYE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 23—Reports in cash grain circles that 226,000 bushels of rye were being loaded here for delivery to Milwaukee spurred buying in futures of that grain today. Prices advanced as much as a cent at times. The use to which the rye would be put was not known definitely, although traders believed it was being taken by a distillery.

All other grains showed strength with commission house buying on a somewhat broader scale than in recent sessions. Advices from terminal markets emphasized the shortage of feed grains. Purchases of corn on a "to-arrive" basis continued small at 28,000 bushels. The corn-hog ratio here was set at 12.1 to 1 against 15.5 to 1 a year ago.

SPEAKS AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS — Members of the Bucyrus Lion's club heard of the workings of the Ohio state parole board when William Mackey, Columbus, a member of the board, appeared before the club Tuesday night. Paratrooper Ed Truka, home on furlough, was a guest and spoke on the work of the airborne troops.

KENTON BUYS FIRE TRUCK

KENTON—Kenton city council this week authorized purchase of a new fire truck for approximately $13,000 plus the 25-year-old ladder truck still in use. Consideration also was given a proposal to change the local time to Eastern War Time, April 26, and announcement made that action will be taken at the next council session, April 3. Kenton now is on Central War Time.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I DON'T think anybody saw me come in," Charlie Kent, the taxi man said, as he came through the door I was holding open for him. "I kept looking ahead of me and behind me all the way, and I'm sure nobody saw me turn into this road, even."

"That's good," I told him. "Better take off your coat, for though you won't be here very long, it will take a few minutes to tell you the details of what we want done. Mrs. Ticer told you why we wanted you, didn't she?"

Stops Talk

"Yes, she said . . ." he began, but my uplifted, protesting hand stopped him.

"Wait till we see Major Grantland," I said. "He'll probably tell you the whole thing over again."

But when I had brought Charlie Kent up to my father's suite and introduced him to Hugh, I found that he had no intention of outlining the plan.

"What did Mrs. Ticer tell you?" he asked Charlie.

"First, that all this was very hush-hush," Charlie replied. "She said that you and your Chinese friend had come here this morning with your clothes dripping wet, and that Shumway had charged you twenty-five dollars from Easthampton, and said 'No questions asked.' She said you had told Shumway he could ask all the questions he wanted to, and to come back here at half-past five to take you to the Bridgehampton station for the six o'clock train. She said Shumway said that would be three dollars, but she said Mrs. Graham thought that was because she could hear him."

Charlie Kent drew a deep breath—he needed one—and went on.

Continues

"But she said you wanted to stay here for a few days without anybody knowing it, and that you wanted me to drive Sam and Jerry to Riverhead, pretending they were you and your friend, for that three-thirty train to New York. Then Shumway would be fooled when he calls here and Mrs. Graham tells him she tried to get him by telephoning but couldn't."

"Is that everything Mrs. Ticer told you?" Hugh asked, when Charlie's voice ran down.

"Yes, I had a customer outside and I had to hurry, and she said you'd tell me the rest."

"Not I," Hugh said promptly. "Mrs. Graham thought up this whole scheme for the fooling of Shumway, and she'll finish up the details."

Charlie Kent turned admiring eyes upon me, but there was also a slightly dubious expression in them which bothered me.

"Mrs. Graham is a dabster at thinking out schemes," he said. "but that Shumway is a rat if there ever was one, and he's got all the cunning of a rat, too. It ain't goin' to be easy to put anything over on him. And what he can't think out for himself, some one with more brains thinks out for him. At least that's what some folks think around here."

Glance

I saw Hugh glance at him with quick keenness, and knew that a certain significance in Kent's tone had intrigued him as it had me.

"What do you mean by that?" he snapped.

"I don't know that I've got the right to say it," Charlie said. "I sure wouldn't blab it to most folks, around these parts. But Mr. Spencer and Mrs. Graham and their friends are always safe, so —well, some of us are pretty sure if he isn't a Nazi spy himself he's got a hook in him with a fish line attached that some Nazi twitches now and then."

"Ah!" Hugh said. "I'd like to go into that with you a little later. Just now, we haven't time. I understand you don't want to make any speed on your trip to Riverhead.'

"We-el" Charlie drawled. "I can make speed if it's life or death or for the government. But in any other case, with tires the way they are and the government regulation as to speed—"

Understands

"I told you," Hugh said, a bit impatiently, "that I understood. That's the reason why I'm cutting short this very interesting conversation about Shumway. I'll take it up with you later, as soon as you can conveniently spare the time to come over there."

"I could come this evening," Charlie Kent said without a moment's hesitation.

"Do that please," Hugh said, and then he turned to me.

"Now, Mrs. Graham," he said with the formality he always uses when strangers are present, "if you will be so kind as to tell—"

"Charlie," I supplied, as he hesitated "I don't think he answers to any other name."

"Please tell Charlie, then," Hugh said, with a smile twitching the corners of his mouth, "just what you have planned for him to do."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Teething Not Dangerous

WHEN THE child born in the present year of grace gets to be six months old it should get down on its knees and thank heaven it was not born in the era which is not so far in the past, when teething was regarded as an abnormal, difficult and even dangerous process.

If the baby was "teething" in the gay nineties, that explained any fever, loss of weight, tantrums, convulsions or nearly anything else. Dr. Abt, in his book of reminiscences Baby Doctor which I mention elsewhere in the column this week, describes it:

"But if some diseases had not yet been recognized, others had been invented, in old record books of dispensaries, there frequently appears a diagnosis of difficult dentition, accompanied by an account of a wide variety of symptoms. The old writers even had a fancy name for this process, dentitio difficilis. They associated the condition with fever and a great number of disorders, including skin diseases, croup, convulsions, diarrhea, cholera, and paralysis, and asserted that it frequently resulted in the infant's death. When I prepared a paper on the history and theory of dentition diseases, I found running through all medical history the belief that teething was a difficult and dangerous process."

I have actually seen in my own apprentice days a doctor pull out his pocket knife and cut the gums of a poor little, helpless baby in order to let the teeth erupt. The gums often got infected in this way, hemorrhage resulted and death actually occurred and was ascribed to teething.

I can give you a table which shows when the teeth should erupt, but I am not sure that you ought to learn it or have it around. The first pair, the lower central incisors, appear in the center part of the lower gum about the eighth month. Note I said "about." If they appear at six months it doesn't mean the child is going to be a genius, and if they do not show up by the ninth or tenth or even eleventh month don't worry yourself to death; such tardiness has no sinister implications. At one year there are usually three or four pair of teeth, at eighteen months six pairs, at two years eight pairs, and at two and a half years ten pairs which is all the temporary teeth the baby is going to get.

The temporary teeth demand care from a dentist just as the permanent teeth do.

The first permanent teeth to come in are the molars, the grinders, in the back part of the jaw, behind the temporary teeth. They come in at the age of six or seven years, and don't think they are some more temporary teeth and neglect them. They are most important for the architecture of the jaw and need regular early attention from the dentist. The permanent central incisors come in soon after, the lateral incisors at seven to nine years, the bicuspids at ten to twelve years, and the others twelve to fourteen years (except the famous and ill-named wisdom teeth.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Reader:—About once a month I find the need of something to make me sleep, due to nervous strain. Can you suggest anything that would make me sleep, not make me groggy for the next day's activities and be harmless?

Answer:—Many people have a real necessity of the kind you describe and the use of one of the barbiturates is justified. One of the barbiturates (Seconal or Medinal in proper, not too large doses) fulfill all the requirements you list. Seconal works quickly and the effect lasts 4 to 6 hours. Medinal takes longer to put one to sleep, and the sleep lasts longer

The Stars Say—

For Friday, March 24

THE LUNAR transits dominant on this day are of complex and conflicting significance. There are several signs of most encouraging prospects which may bring honors, favors or prominence in public, community or fraternal organizations. These tokens of preferment or recognition may call for celebrations or pleasant gatherings, with social, domestic, affectional or sentimental functions. However, there are signs of deceit, intrigue, undercover or subtle forms of attack, probably dragged into the open with explosives and immoderate fury. A strict regard for name, position, home and health should be preserved, to reap promised benefits and personal gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by complicated, perplexing and subtle situations, difficult to handle unless there be strict adherence to proper rules and regulations. With this undercover state of affairs, it is wise to bring sinister situations to the surface in order to handle them with prudence and discretion. The social, financial, emotional and physical well being may be jeopardized by tempestuous, explosive and reckless indulgences. With vigilance and care there may be public as well as private tokens of personal popularity, prestige or honors, with suitable celebrations or possibly romantic adventure. Place trust in old friends rather than strangers.

A child born on this day may be blessed with much versatility and ingenuity although it may be easily victimized or suffer from subtlety and fraud.

Glass eyes were used by the Romans and Egyptians.

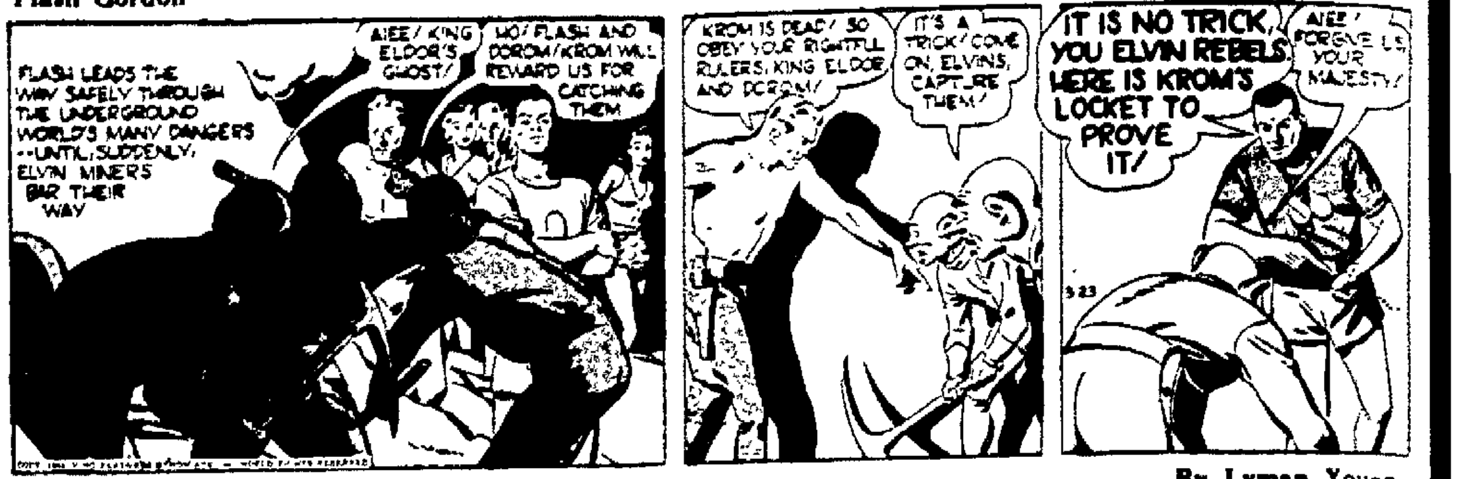
BLONDIE! WHEN YOU COME UP TO BED BRING ME A PIECE OF CAKE AND A GLASS OF MILK
GIVE ME A BITE, MAMA
GIVE ME A BITE, TOO
THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME ABSOLUTELY NO PLACE!
CHIC YOUNG

Flash Gordon



FLASH LEADS THE WAY SAFELY THROUGH THE UNDERGROUND WORLD'S MANY DANGERS --UNTIL, SUDDENLY, ELVIN MINERS BAR THEIR WAY
AIEE! KING ELDOR'S GHOST!
NO! FLASH AND DOROM! KROM WILL REWARD US FOR CATCHING THEM
KROM IS DEAD! SO OBEY YOUR RIGHTFUL RULERS, KING ELDOR AND DOROM!
IT'S A TRICK! COME ON, ELVINS, CAPTURE THEM!
IT IS NO TRICK, YOU ELVIN REBELS. HERE IS KROM'S LOCKET TO PROVE IT!
AIEE! FORGIVE US, YOUR MAJESTY!

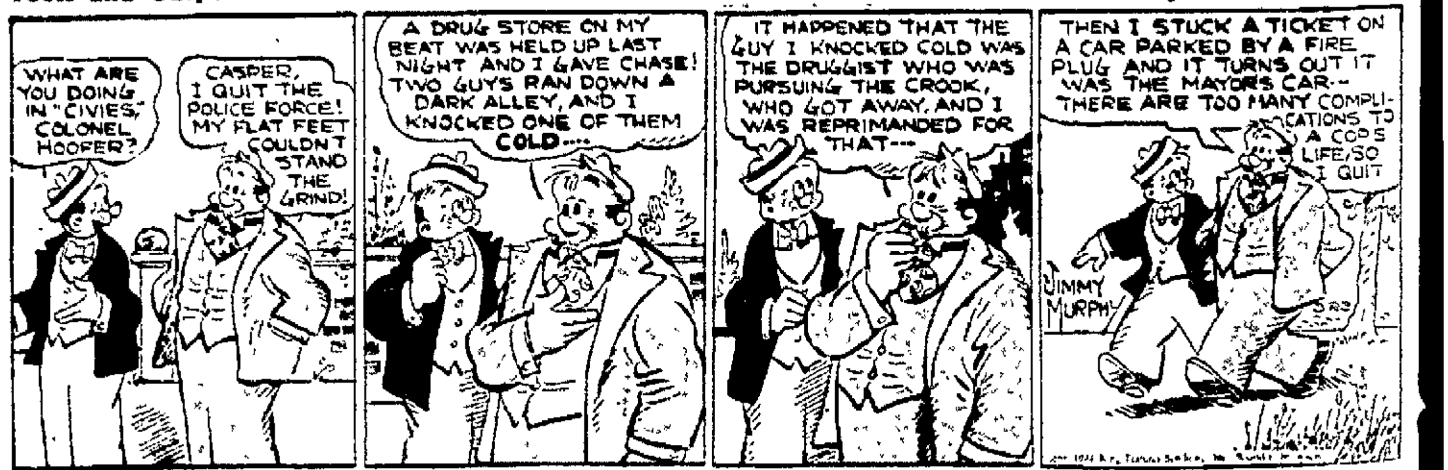
Toots and Casper

By Jimmy Murphy



WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN "CIVIES," COLONEL HOOFER?
CASPER, I QUIT THE POLICE FORCE! MY FLAT FEET COULDN'T STAND THE GRIND!
A DRUG STORE ON MY BEAT WAS HELD UP LAST NIGHT AND I GAVE CHASE! TWO GUYS RAN DOWN A DARK ALLEY, AND I KNOCKED ONE OF THEM COLD----
IT HAPPENED THAT THE GUY I KNOCKED COLD WAS THE DRUGGIST WHO WAS PURSUING THE CROOK, WHO GOT AWAY, AND I WAS REPRIMANDED FOR THAT---
THEN I STUCK A TICKET ON A CAR PARKED BY A FIRE PLUG AND IT TURNS OUT IT WAS THE MAYOR'S CAR-- THERE ARE TOO MANY COMPLICATIONS TO A COP'S LIFE/SO I QUIT

DON'T BE SCARED, ZERO PRETTY SOON THIS CAR WILL GET TO WHEREVER IT'S GOIN'- THEN THEY'LL OPEN THE DOOR.
I DON'T KNOW WHERE ANNIE AND ZERO ARE! EVEN IF I DID, I WOULDN'T TELL A SNEAKING, CHISELING CROOK LIKE YOU!
DARRELL McCLURE
SUPPOSE I TELL THE POLICE YOU'RE HIDING THEM TO GET THE REWARD?
REWARD? SO THAT'S WHY YOU'RE SO ANXIOUS TO BUY ZERO!

Bringing Up Father

MY- THAT IS A FINE READING-LAMP-MY BROTHER ALWAYS WANTED A LAMP LIKE THAT-
3-23
I'LL ASK JIGGS IF HE DOESN'T THINK IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO GIVE IT TO MY BROTHER-
YOU KNOW THAT LAMP IN THE LIBRARY WOULD BE A NICE PRESENT FOR MY BROTHER-- IT IS SO NICE TO READ BY-
YES-IT IS NICE AND BRIGHT- IT'S TOO BAD HE CAN'T READ!
OH-WELL-I HAD TO COME DOWNSTAIRS-ANYWAY-
